Haleiwa’s Elementary School’s iconic architecture dates from 1921.

Hale’iwa Elementary School Awarded Prestigious “National Blue Ribbon” Award

An interview with the school’s principal, Malaea Wetzel

Hale’iwa Elementary School on Hale’iwa Road in Hale’iwa Town is one of only three schools in the state—and only 377 schools nationwide – to win this year’s National Blue Ribbon Award for “outstanding performance and improvement efforts” from the U. S. Department of Education. As reported by the Honolulu Star-Advertiser, the U. S. Secretary of Education, Arno Duncan, credits the award to the school for, “the state’s highest percentage of student proficiency in math, ninety-four percent.” Hale’iwa Elementary also had the fourth-highest reading proficiency in the state: 92 percent. The Secretary also noted that 65 percent of the school’s keiki are from “economically disadvantaged homes.”

Hale’iwa Elementary is no stranger to history. The school opened in 1871 as Waialua English School, an “independent” school, operating with no government

North Shore residents Ryan de Seixas and Tanja Lauprecht headed to the Island of Ko Phi Phi in Thailand. They are pictured here at Ko Phi Phi famous for the limestone seacliff formations. This trip Ryan remembered to bring a copy of the NSN which came in handy when Ryan and Tanja needed to be reminded of the good times back on Oahu's beautiful North Shore. Banzai Skate Board Park Open At Last

After more than fourteen years on the drawing board and many months of closure due to construction, the Banzai Skate Board Park once again open to the public. Following a park dedication at 11:00 a.m. on Wednesday, the 26th of November, just in time for the Thanksgiving Holiday, the North Shore Community finally has a skate board park that is both functional and attractive. The park project received initial funding in 2000 after lobbying efforts that some say began as long ago as 1976. The latest improvements to the site include the construction of a parking lot, extensive landscaping, the installation of an irrigation system and modifications to the bowl. The perimeter of the park needed to be fenced during the construction as a mandatory safety precaution and entrance to the park has been restricted with a guard posted at the site for the last few weeks.

I know it was frustrating for the community to be denied access to the park during the final construction phase, but liability issues compelled the restriction until the City formally accepted the work of the contractor who was responsible for the security measures. My staff and I worked closely with the Department of Parks and Recreation and the Department of Design and Construction during this last phase of the project to expedite the park opening. The last modification of the site was the addition of the stanchions and chains designed to prevent vehicles from driving on the grass while still allowing for the entrance of emergency vehicle if needed. With the help of the community, we need a plan to protect the new trees, grass and other plantings from injury, and the park itself from vandalism as was the case during the earlier phase of construction.

In 2011, the Sunset Beach Community Association established a special fund to support the project and to afford enhancements not included in the construction budget. Several potential donors indicated a willingness to make monetary contributions to the fund for useful additions to the park. Some of the preliminary suggestions included separate areas for novice skateboarders, placement of concrete planters to serve a variety of usages such as seating, skate ledges & shade trees, walkways designed to be used as skate surfaces, drinking fountains, picnic tables and benches for the grassy areas and even a viewing stand to provide seats and shade from the sun. If these suggestions are incorporated into the design of the park, the community may be able to hold various charity & fundraiser events and contests involving professional and amateur skaters alike. The construction of this park at a cost of nearly two million dollars, was intended to provide the community with a recreational arena where skateboarders, from young children & teens to adults, can enjoy one of their favorite sports in a safe, clean and green environment.

A Happy Thanksgiving to you and your family. Aloha, Ernie.

We are located at 66-945 Kaukonahua Road right in Waialua and next to the Paalaa Kai Mini Mart - we are easy to find!

Aloha,

First and foremost I would like to thank Linda, staff members and additional contributors for serving our community through their dedication to the North Shore News – Mahalo!

I also want to thank my family, friends and all other examples to me throughout my life. I stand on the shoulders of giants who have sacrificed for me to be where I am today.

I NEED YOUR HELP

As the newly elected State Representative from Waialua through Kahuku to Waiahole, I have a tremendous responsibility to fulfill the charge placed in me to represent our great community and state – I need your help and feedback to do that.

I will do my part by listening to our community and performing the responsibilities of a State Representative.

The major responsibilities of a State Representative include:

1. Advocating for the needs of our District;
2. Representing our District’s perspective and best interests regarding State laws, mandates and policies, and;

3. Advocating on general statewide issues and other matters of importance.

I hope to inspire greater ‘civic engagement’ in our communities to bring solutions to our common challenges. My hope is that the Hawai’i we pass on as a legacy for our next generation is a legacy we will be proud of.

I will always have an open door policy for every member in our District. I will meet with community members in the community – it is my intent to do a better job bringing our government to the people. I will have more information on dates and times for community sessions in the near future.

May I conclude with an experience I had this past week and with sharing my contact information.

STORY

I noticed some potholes in Kahuku that were getting bigger and bigger – and a community member also made a comment to me about it as well. So I decided to find and call the State’s pothole hotline. I found the hotline number through a google search and the City and County of Honolulu’s website (website link: <http://www.honolulu.gov/dfm/pothole.html>) which had the State’s pothole hotline (808-536-7852). I called after regular working hours and left a voicemail describing where the potholes were located. In less than a week those potholes were patched and I was happy!

I am not sure if it was my phone call or someone else’s that directly got the potholes fixed, but I encourage everyone to report potholes and other challenges we are facing.

I know that generally people want to do what’s right and prudent – but I also know that if people don’t know any better, they can’t do any better. So I have goal to help provide more information for our District to know better and do better. My staff and I are committed to making our community better.

MY CONTACT INFO

If you or anyone you know might be interested in contacting or working with me, please share my office phone number: 808-586-6380 and email: reppouha@capitol.hawaii.gov. I will share my personal contact information via reasonable request. My office number at the Capitol is 319. Contact me if you have ideas, questions or concerns. I look forward to serving and working together with you.

Olakino Maika'i

(Good Health)

by Naty Camit Hopewell

Magnesium and Health

Many of you take a variety of supplements, such as vitamins and minerals. I would like to focus on Magnesium (Mg) due to some research indicating that habitually low intake of Mg may increase your risk for developing some health problems such as type 2 diabetes, high blood pressure, osteoporosis and migraine headache. What is Mg and the evidence for and against its effectiveness in preventing or treating these health disorders?

Mg is the fourth most abundant mineral in the body. It is involved in more than 300 body functions, including muscle and nerve function, blood sugar control, blood pressure regulation, and energy production. Mg is needed in the development of bone and the production of DNA and plays a role in transporting calcium and potassium across cell membrane, which is important in muscle contraction and normal heart rhythm.

There are conflicting data when reviewing research that has been done. For example, giving Mg supplements to people with high blood pressure only reduces their blood pressure by a few points. Studies examining the use of Mg supplements to control blood sugar in type 2 diabetes have been inconsistent. Consequently, the American Diabetes Association states "there is insufficient evidence to support the routine use of Mg in type 2 diabetes." As for migraine headaches, the author of a review suggests taking 300mg of Mg twice daily can prevent headaches. The American Academy of Neurology concludes that Mg is "probably effective in migraine prevention."

A conclusion you can glean from the inconsistent data is that your body functions well only when there are adequate amounts of a variety of vitamins and minerals that work in concert. It's like your car; it only operates well when you have enough of everything it needs like gas, oil, water, brake fluid and four tires with enough air in them.

Incidentally, too much Mg can cause diarrhea.

May your holidays
be merry, bright,
and safe!

Light up your holidays with these safety tips in mind:

- For decorating outside, buy light strands, lighted displays, and extension cords rated for outdoor use.
- Buy products that bear the mark of a safety standards testing lab, such as UL, ETL, or CSA.
- Before stringing holiday lights, check for frayed wires, cracked insulation, and damaged sockets—replace defective light strands.
- Don't use staples or nails to hang light strands, and don't hang them on metal rain gutters and railings or on chain link fences.
- When decorating outdoors, keep yourself and your ladder at least ten feet away from overhead power lines.
- Turn off, or unplug, light strands and lighted displays when you go to bed or leave the house.

Senator
Gil Riviere
Serving Oahu's North and Windward Shores

Aloha.

Our office is open, we have begun to work on constituent concerns and we are preparing for the upcoming legislative session. With great appreciation, I am honored to have been elected to represent the residents of our district in the Hawaii State Senate.

Since the district boundaries were amended in 2012, our Senate District 23 includes the many diverse communities from Kunia Camp, around the North and Windward Shores, all the way to Heeia and Ahuimanu. Ours is a spectacular district that includes most of the remaining agricultural lands on Oahu and prominent bays and estuaries from Waialua to Kaneohe Bay.

Without the support and love of my wife and children, I could never have been able to volunteer for so much community service over the past decade. I could never have made it to the House of Representatives and, now, the Senate without my family's sacrifices. Mahalo to Liz for her tireless care for our family while continuing her full time teaching career. Mahalo to Liz, Jake and Janine for their good natured patience with my hectic schedule.

Helping me serve our district are two fantastic ladies: Kalei Keolanui is Office Manager and Maxx Phillips is Policy Advisor. Kalei has demonstrated her friendly, professional organizational skills for several Senators and, most recently, in the Governor's office. Maxx will help us navigate issues and challenges with her perceptive analysis and creative problem solving skills. Together, our office should be a very effective team.

In addition to our two permanent staff members, we are looking for employees to help manage the Legislative Session work load for four months, beginning in January. Anyone interested in a session position should call Kalei immediately at 586-7330 and email a resume to K.Keolanui@capitol.hawaii.gov.

I am pleased to report that I have been chosen to serve on five committees that are vitally important to our district. I am the Vice-Chair of Agriculture and I will also serve on Water and Land, Health, Human Services and Housing, and Ways and Means.

Some of the priorities that we are already focusing on include thorough review of pesticide regulations and enforcement, water quality, watershed protection, long term traffic solution for Laniakea and Chuns, flood mitigation for windward communities, highway repairs and more.

We are beginning to research and formulate plans for possible legislation for the 2015 legislative session that begins in January. If you have suggestions or ideas to improve the quality of life of our residents, solve minor problems in the district or comprehensive solutions for larger issues, please feel free to share them with us at your earliest convenience.

If you can, please stop by and visit us at the Capitol in Room 217. Our phone number is 586-7330. My email address is SenRiviere@capitol.hawaii.gov. If you still use a fax, you can transmit to 586-7334. Or let's talk closer to home, maybe the next time we pass in the street. Mahalo.

Oahu residents invited to view new Extreme Tsunami Evacuation Zone maps at public information and outreach workshops

Oahu residents are invited to attend a series of free public information and outreach workshops for a preview of new Extreme Tsunami Evacuation Zone maps. These maps represent an unlikely worst-case scenario and do not replace the current, standard tsunami evacuation maps. Rather, they add a second evacuation zone for a worst case, extreme, once in a thousand years tsunami event.

Newly released scientific and geological information suggests that sometime in the past 500 years, a massive 9.0 earthquake in the eastern Aleutian Trench may have generated a tsunami that far exceeded the inundations known to have occurred during tsunami events throughout recorded history in Hawaii. An event of this magnitude, referred to as an Extreme Tsunami may occur once every thousand years.

In response to these findings, the city, in conjunction with state, federal, and non-government stakeholders, have developed a new set of Oahu Extreme Tsunami Evacuation Zone maps, refuge areas, and evacuation routes to complement the current tsunami evacuation maps.

Representatives from the city's Department of Emergency Management will be on hand to present the new maps, discuss the implications for Oahu residents and answer questions.

Country Talk Story with Choon James

Title and Refinancing

When refinancing a real estate property; it's good to consider the following tips:

1. Do you want to drag out your loan? Consider the length of your existing mortgage. If you have only 10 years left, do you really want to refinance to a new 15 or 30 year loan?

2. Generally, it's not fiscally prudent to refinance to buy a car, pay for a vacation or a wedding.

3. It may not be wise to refinance a primary home to help finance a business start-up. We have seen start-up businesses go belly up and the house lost due to foreclosure.

4. If you refinance to help a family member, remember that all the names on the property title have authority to decision-making. For example, if you add your family and his/her spouse' name on title, they will have to agree to decisions to be made regarding the property such as selling.

If you agree to have your name removed from the property during the refinancing process, know that legally you no longer have authority over that property.

It's important that these tips be discussed. We have seen mom and dad who own their house free and free, refinance to help their children and end up losing their primary home.

We have also seen mom and dad agree to have their homes be used for refinancing and also their names removed, thinking they don't want to be responsible for the mortgage. However, circumstances change and the children later want to sell the house while the parents do not. Needless to say, this creates a lot of friction.

Ask a loan officer as many questions as you want. They are generally very good about providing information.

Special thanks: All the public and private school teachers and aides who work so hard to educate Hawaii's children. They are under-appreciated and underpaid.

Something New on the Horizon for Those Suffering With Addictions

Author – Cheryl Prentiss, free lance writer

There is a humble little program happening about four times a year on the North Shore, where intriguing and potentially life changing events are going on. Mark Turansky, Addictions Specialist and Executive Director of New Horizons Counseling, offers a unique recovery program called "Treatment Camp" for those struggling with the slavery of addictive behavior.

In January of this year, Mark released the book: "Figure it, Face it & Fix it – Your surprising solution to addiction and substance abuse" where the success principles of the New Horizons approach are revealed.

In a world where we expect certain outcomes based on logic, and are often hard-pressed to be convinced of new ideas, counter-intuitive programs like New Horizons are both surprising and inspiring. The New Horizons approach does indeed follow logical lines of thought and reason, based on Cognitive Behavioral Therapy (C.B.T.). C.B.T., in a nut shell, means if you change your thinking you can change your behavior. It is not a new idea, by any means; but with this fresh, insightful approach, the New Horizons recovery program hits the nail on the head for giving those struggling with addiction the tools to face their challenge squarely, and gain control over their lives once again.

I was pleasantly surprised by Treatment Camp, and the New Horizons approach. Sometimes answers come from unlikely or unexpected sources. I especially like the quote Mark has on his website: "We are not here to judge you; we are here to help you." This is the feeling I got from this program, and the people involved. If you are at your wits end, tired of hurting yourself and the ones you love because of your addiction, consider the New Horizons recovery program. It may surprise you.

Bubble Shack Hawaii— A Local Favorite Opens First Hale'iwa Shop

Bubble Shack Hawaii, a local favorite for handmade, organic bath, body, pet and home products is opening its first store in the newly renovated, historic Hale'iwa Plantation Shops.

Bubble Shack was founded in 2005 by husband and wife team, Holly and Ash Harding, who live in Hale'iwa, after they recognized a need for natural, vegan and environmentally-friendly bath, beauty and home products that embodied a surfer-chic lifestyle. After a decade of successfully establishing the brand as a wholesaler to many local, national (Whole Foods) and international retailers in Japan, Guam, Saipan and the US Mainland, Holly and Ash envisioned a place where all of their products could be showcased under one roof. "We're coming up on Bubble Shack's 10 year anniversary so what better way to celebrate the brand we've created and our company's success than to open our own store in our own community. Our products are ocean and reef friendly which reflects our love of the North Shore."

The brand ensures that each product, from organic soap to coconut butter body lotion, is chemist approved and properly preserved with natural ingredients to create ideal product performance. Bubble

Shack products do not contain sulfates, parabens, EDTA, dimethicone, phthalates, propylene glycol or any other toxic ingredients found in many bath and body products. In addition, Bubble Shack Hawaii is a proud approved vendor of People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals (PETA).

With its ocean-minded theme prominently on display, the store is scheduled to open on Black Friday, November 28th and Grand Opening celebrations will be on December 10th. The brand will also introduce products exclusive to the Hale'iwa store such as its "shark bite soap," "sunrise shell soap," "tropical soap cupcakes" and its own line of organic, healing essential oils. Bubble Shack Hawaii apparel, accessories and other unique gift items will be on display.

Publication of New Plant Names

By Josephine Hoh, Botanical Manager, Waimea Valley, North Shore of O'ahu.

At Waimea Valley we have about 5,000 different types of plants. These plants are labeled to ease identification and to prick ones curiosity into the plant world. Engraved on each label is the botanical name, the common name (if any), plant family, and where the plant originated. At Waimea, our Botanical Collections Specialist, David Orr, researches for the proper current name for each type of plant and updates the plant labels as needed.

Most of us have birth certificates with our given names printed. Plants have given names as well when they were first discovered. The Latin name of a plant does not formally exist until it is published in a manner that satisfies all the requirements in the International Code of Nomenclature for Algae, Fungi, and plants (also known as the Code). This international system started in 1753 with the publication of Linnaeus's Species Plantarum. The name has to clear three processes in order to be adopted; if it fails any one of these then the name cannot be used.

The first hurdle is Effective Publication—The plant and name has to be mentioned in a publication such as a printed book, journal and magazine and recently electronic publications are accepted.

The second hurdle is Valid Publication—the name must be binomial with the genus and the species' epithet e.g. Hibiscus (genus) kokio (species); there needs to be a taxonomic description of the plant; and a type specimen of the plant located in an institution.

And lastly, the name must be Legitimate—it must be ensured that the newly-adopted name has never been validly published before or could be a type specimen of an older name.

These steps may sound complicated to follow but a lot of people have happily worked a way through them in order to publish their new species.

Government at a Glance

My family and I extend our very best wishes to you and your family for a peaceful Thanksgiving holiday. While we have much for which to be thankful, let us remember those who are challenged with any of the many struggles that life presents.

As I mentioned previously, the 28th Legislative Session begins on January 21, 2015. The Hawaii State Legislature website (Capitol.Hawaii.gov) is your gateway to easily and quickly being part of your government and legislative processes. When you scroll to the bottom right side of the main page, you will see the "Pandora's Box" with links to bring your government right to your fingertips!

One of my favorite links is the Public Access Room. You can take a virtual tour of your Capitol, download House and Senate Committee Lists, maps of the Capitol, take mini-workshops, and many other useful resources. All of this is available to you without having to travel to town!

Another of my favorites is the link to Hawaii Government Services. You can quickly and easily find information for every government agency and department, boards and commissions to include meetings and agendas, elected and appointed officials, access to online services, and so much more. You will always want to look at this site before visiting an agency, so much is available online so that you can do more without having to travel to a government office!

If you or someone you know is interested in working at the Capitol for the 2015 Legislative Session (January-May 2015), Capitol.Hawaii.gov provides information that will guide you through the process of applying for legislative session staff positions in the House and in the Senate. The work is exciting and fulfilling because you see first-hand and contribute to the lawmaking process. Many current legislators began their journey to elected office by working as legislative session staff.

Rockfall Mitigation Project on Pupukea Road

Satisfied Pupukea resident left a thank you banner for the Prometheus Construction crew. Here is some information on the Rockfall Mitigation Project on Pupukea Road: This was the second and last phase of a project for the City and County of Honolulu. The job consisted of cutting much of the unstable slope back away from the edge of the roadway an additional 4 feet; this allowed for better line of site for vehicles driving up and down Pupukea Road along with a wider and more safe shoulder. Also installed a 700' long impact barrier systems to catch any upslope rocks that might (and probably will) come down the mountain. The crew installed a wire mesh drapery system as well as a substantial amount of sculptured/stained shotcrete to stabilize the slope directly above the roadway. The area was re-landscaped with 1,000 + native plants and applied hydromulch grass (the green stuff you see on the hillside, which should start sprouting soon). Project Superintendent, Govi Tillotson, with Prometheus Construction said "we thoroughly enjoyed working on the beautiful North Shore and were very grateful for the community's support and patience throughout the course of our project."

Ka'ena Point Off-Road Use Prompts Permit System

Beginning December 1, 2014 anyone wanting to drive a vehicle into the Mokule'ia section (beyond the paved parking lot) of Ka'ena Point State Park Reserve will need to obtain a free permit. This does not apply to those who hike or bike on the dirt road behind the locked gate. Users who get a permit will be provided with the combination to the lock. People can apply for the permits at the state park offices during normal working hours. Permits take up to 5 working days.

BANZAI NORTH SHORE WIRELESS

Get your tandem on! Moms and daughter, Dads and sons, Dads and daughters, sistas and cousins sign up for Bradda Mel's FLHI Girlz TV Tandem Pro-Am in Makaha. It will be two weekends, December 6-7 & 13-14 and includes canoe and SUP surfing!

Congratulations to Xcel Wetsuits. The Surf Industry Manufacturers Association has announced award nominations for two of Xcel's newest products. The Drylock fullsuit featuring TDC, Thermo Dry Celliant, and the Drylock boot, also featuring the TDC technology have been selected. The full suit has the TDC lining and they are calling it the warmest wet suit lining ever in it's 30 year history. The Drylock boot, nominated for "Hardgoods Accessory Product of the Year," has also been upgraded with a full TDC "infrared-print" low pile interior, for maximum warmth from ankle to toe. Another of the newest innovations is a sort of cone shaped donut construction seal on arms and legs. It hugs the skin and won't let water in or out. Get this, the lining has minerals in it that recycle your own heat for warmth. All SIMA Image Award winners will be announced on February 12, 2015, at the SIMA Image Awards ceremony in Anaheim, California.

The International Surfing Association [ISA] has confirmed that a Chinese team will compete in the ISA China Cup for the first time ever, highlighting the growth of Surfing in new territories around the world. Recently re-elected ISA President, Fernando Aguerre, made the landmark announcement as he unveiled plans for Surfing's return to China for the third consecutive year with two separate events—the ISA China Cup and the Hainan Classic—set to take place during the Hainan Wanning Riyue Bay International Surfing Festival from November 23-28 this year. The goal of the ISA is to have surfing in the Olympics.

Waimea Bay on the North Shore of Oahu is a famous big wave surf spot but few people know it is also a marine reserve! The corals in the bay and surrounding coastline are fully protected along with the entire reef ecosystem. Dr. Terry Lilly has been researching the area and has found that the giant old growth mound corals in Waimea Bay all the way to Sharks Cove started to dissolve and turn into mud. He has been diving the area since the summer. The botanical reserve in Waimea Canyon is not using toxic chemicals and the river usually empties and flows towards Hale'iwa side. The reef seems to be dying on the east side he reports. So what is killing the reef? Unfortunately no one knows. Some researchers say the giant electric military towers above have something to do with it. More studies need to be done.

Congrats to the North Shore's Dax McGill. The 16 year old surfer won the Maui and Sons Pro in Chili in November, the last event of the qualifying circuit. The 2 star WQS event was at the point break in Punta de Los Lobos in chilly water. The Volcom team rider wore a full suit, hoodie and all, in the 3-5 foot left hander to take the event. She defeated Josefina Ane from Argentina in the final by a score of 14.65 to 11.40. She ended up in 51st place for the year.

Maui's Dusty Payne was on a mission at the Reef Hawaiian Pro. Payne dropped out of the WCT tour in 2012 with a nagging ankle injury after an air maneuver that he kept surfing on. He stormed back into Hale'iwa to win the event with the highest heat total in the final. Payne grew up at Sunset Beach before he moved with his parents to Maui so he is well versed at Sunset Beach and Pipeline and now has a good chance of becoming Triple Crown Champion! Sunset is Next!

Aloha to our surfing friend Dr. Dorian "Doc" Pasowitz who passed on November 10th. Doc was an avid surfer who spent much of his life bringing surfing to the world. He was known for tooling around California in a 24 foot camper with his large family, his wife Juliette, a classical singer and nine children. In summers he set up a surfing school and preached it's Doc is also known for his book "Surfing and Health," his great surf stories and his unselfish giving of his physician services. "Live long live well" he would say. Doc was 93 years young, he will be missed.

funding and one that taught classes in English when many schools in the Hawaiian Kingdom taught in Hawaiian. It was adopted as a funded government school nine years later, and moved to its present location from Pa'ala'a Kai, a few miles inland, in 1911. The school's present picturesque buildings were built in 1921 and its name was changed to Hale'iwa Elementary in 1940.

The North Shore News (NSN) interviewed the school's principal, Malaea Wetzel, recently to discuss the school's academic success.

NSN: Tell us a little bit about yourself. Your name, Malaea; is that Hawaiian?

Wetzel: Yes. I'm a local girl, raised in Wahiawa, a Leilehua High graduate. I still live in Wahiawa with my husband.

NSN: Where did you go to college?

Wetzel: UH, with a degree in Secondary Education. My Master's degree is in Educational Counselling from the University of Phoenix. But this article shouldn't be about me, but rather about the school.

NSN: Okay, the school. Your little two-hundred-student school is one of only three schools in Hawaii to win a National Blue Ribbon Award. How did you do it? What's your "secret sauce?"

Wetzel: There's no "secret sauce." Keep in mind that the award was for superior performance over the past five years, not just last year. In all that time our teachers have consistently worked with the students, one-on-one, to build high academic expectations and goals in the kids. We stress improvement, not perfection.

NSN: Do you have smaller classes with a lower student-to-teacher ratio? Is that one reason for your success?

Wetzel: No. It's a common misconception that a small school naturally means smaller classes. Like every school, I suppose, we are limited by our budget. So we hire teachers, or not, to accommodate a reasonable class size. Our student-to-teacher ratio is not much different than that of much larger schools. Our smaller student body, however, does allow me and the rest of the staff of eighteen teachers and twelve support people to interact more individually with each student. It's this personal interaction that I try to encourage and that is probably a reason for our academic success.

NSN: What does the Blue Ribbon award mean to you personally and to the students and staff?

Wetzel: It's very, very exciting. You may remember that in two-thousand-ten the state's DOE considered closing Hale'iwa Elementary down to save budget. Now, this award, four years later, is a validation of the decision to keep us as a vital part of the North Shore community. I couldn't possibly be prouder of this school, its staff, and its student body.

NSN: So you're happy here?

Wetzel: I love it. I'm not going anywhere.

Congresswomen Tulsi Gabbard interviewed

by Kahuku Film Club students

The students from the Kahuku Film Club got opportunity to practice their interview and camera skills, and learn about their government in Washington firsthand. The Film Club reporters interviewed their Congresswomen, Tulsi Gabbard in their 'Olelo TV mini-studio on campus.

"Digital media is a critical centerpiece of communication in the 21st century, and our students have tremendous gifts and talents in this growing medium," said Congresswoman Tulsi Gabbard, who serves Hawaii's 2nd Congressional District. "Recently, I had the privilege of sitting down with some of the Kahuku Film Club students and was very impressed with their knowledge of local and national policies that affect our communities here on the North Shore."

Now in its 4th year, the after-school film club teaches how to use the camera as a fun creative learning tool. Two middle school reporters, Smylyn Naluai and Malie DaMate along with Film Club members researched, wrote and practiced questions for Representative Gabbard. Kahuku senior, Ocean Eale was anchor and the political analyst for the TV show. A team of five students directed and filmed the interview, including: Hokulii Mahuka-Keliikuli, Joey Salts, Jonnathan Channels, Drake Mozo and Tyra Pualoa-Ueda.

"We would like our youth to have early experiences to find their gifts and passions," said Don Sand, Director of the Kahuku Film Club. "In addition, students learn skills for college and high-tech careers."

"Innovative education programs like the Kahuku Film Club give our students real life experiences, and it was my pleasure to join them," concluded Congresswomen Gabbard.

The students' interview of Rep Gabbard can be viewed on 'Olelo Public television or online www.Olelo.org/OleloNet—the program title is "Ocean's Political Talk Story with Tulsi Gabbard"

15th Annual Christmas Tree Lighting Ceremony

In the spirit of the holiday season the Lili`uokalani Protestant Church is pleased to announce the 15th Annual Christmas Tree Lighting Ceremony in honor and memory of our beloved friends and relatives who have passed from this life. This year's honoree is Skye Yamamoto, the pianist for Lili`uokalani Protestant Church. He went to be with our Lord on February 24, 2014 at the age of 23 years. The ceremony is scheduled to be on December 14, 2014 at the worship service at 10:00 a.m.

Members of our community are invited to participate in this holiday affair by submitting names of their loved ones whose star ornament will be placed upon the Memorial Tree during the tree lighting ceremony. All of the star names are read during the ceremony in their honor and our memory.

We invite you to join your family and friends at this ceremony in memory of those who have made a tremendous impact upon our lives. It is a time of reverence and remembrance of our loved ones that have 'gone ahead.'

Your contribution are used for scholarship for student who wishes to pursue a higher education after high school. Please contact the church office at 637-4074 for more information.

Donations for each star will be a minimum of $5.00 per name or you may contribute any substantial amount. This year's scholarship winner is Natasha Kaio who is pursuing her Masters of Arts degree in teaching at Pacific University in Oregon.
