Kahuku Red Raider cadets meet General Colin Powell

The former Secretary of State, and retired Army General Colin Powell greeted Hawaii JROTC cadets on January 31, 2012 at Punahou School. The Senior Army Instructor (SAI) for Punahou JROTC program LTC (Ret) Robert Takao sent an email asking General Powell if he was ever in Hawaii, if he could talk to the cadets, and General Powell accepted his request. Powell described joining the Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC) during college as one of the happiest experiences of his life; discovering something he loved and could do well, he felt he had "found himself." According to Powell: "It was only once I was in college, about six months into college when I found something that I liked, and that was ROTC, Reserve Officer Training Corps in the military. And I not only liked it, but I was pretty good at it. General Powell was a soldier for 35 years, holding a variety of command and staff positions and rising to the rank of four-star General, and becoming the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Kahuku

Cadet Battalion Commander, Jayce Young stated, "It was a real honor to meet General Powell. His message to me was it doesn't matter where you come from, or what school you went to, or what college you graduate from. Anything can be accomplished as long as you put your mind and heart into it". Cadet Captain Taylor Cook, Battalion S-3, Operations Officer, stated, "Meeting General Powell was something that can only happen once in your life, to meet a great American hero, someone that rose to the very top of military command, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the Secretary of State. His message was clear, you can achieve your dreams if you work hard, enjoy what you're doing, and never give up."

How Old is Grandma?

(Author Unknown)

Stay with this -- the answer is at the end. It will blow you away.

One evening a grandson was talking to his grandmother about current events. The grandson asked his grandmother what she thought about the shootings at schools, the computer age, and just things in general.

The Grandmother replied, "Well, let me think a minute, I was born before:

- television
- frozen foods
- contact lenses
- Frisbees and
- the pill

There were no:

- credit cards
- laser beams

Man had not yet invented:

- pantyhose
- air conditioners
- dishwashers
- clothes dryers
- and the clothes were hung out to dry in the fresh air and
- man hadn't yet walked on the moon

Your Grandfather and I got married first, and then lived together. Every family had a father and a mother. Until I was 25, I called every man older than me, "Sir." And after I turned 25, I still called policemen and every man with a title, "Sir." We were before gay-rights, computer-dating, dual careers, daycare centers, and group therapy. The Ten Commandments, good judgment, and common sense governed our lives. We were taught to know the difference between right and wrong and to stand up and take responsibility for our actions. Serving your country was a privilege; living in this country was a bigger privilege. We thought fast food was what people ate during Lent. Having a meaningful relationship meant getting along with your cousins. Draft dodgers were those who closed front doors as the evening breeze started. Time-sharing meant time the family spent together in the evenings and weekends -not purchasing condominiums.

We never heard of FM radios, tape decks, CD's, electric typewriters, yogurt, or guys wearing earrings. We listened to Big Bands, Jack Benny, and the President's speeches on our radios. And I don't ever remember any kid blowing his brains out listening to Tommy Dorsey. If you saw anything with 'Made in Japan ' on it, it was junk. The term 'making out' referred to how you did on your school exam. Pizza Hut, McDonald's, and instant coffee were unheard of. We had 5 & 10-cent stores where you could actually buy things for 5 and 10 cents. Ice-cream cones, phone calls, rides on a streetcar, and a Pepsi were all a nickel. And if you didn't want to splurge, you could spend your nickel on enough stamps to mail 1 letter and 2 postcards. You could buy a new Ford Coupe for $600, but who could afford one? Too bad, because gas was 11 cents a gallon.

In my day:

- "grass" was mowed,
- "coke" was a cold drink,
- "pot" was something your mother cooked in and
- "rock music" was your grandmother's lullaby.
- "Aids" were helpers in the Principal's office,
- "chip" meant a piece of wood,
- "hardware" was found in a hardware store and.
- "software" wasn't even a word.

And we were the last generation to actually believe that a lady needed a husband to have a baby. No wonder people call us "old and confused" and say there is a generation gap.

How old do you think I am? I bet you have this old lady in mind. You are in for a shock! Read on to see -- pretty scary if you think about it and pretty sad at the same time.

Are you ready?????

This woman would be only 59 years old, Born in 1952.

GIVES YOU SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT.

Turtle Bay Resort's SEIS Community Update

provided by Replay Resorts on behalf of Turtle Bay Resort

This article is the seventh in a series of updates to the North Shore News community about the ongoing progress of Turtle Bay Resort's draft Supplemental Environmental Impact Statement (SEIS) Preparation Notice and the Revised Plan. Turtle Bay Resort (TBR) has the unique opportunity to honor and respect these lands and community by incorporating traditional Hawaiian cultural values into its environmental review process, planning and implementation of the Revised Plan. This series focused on the critical cultural components of both the SEIS and Revised Plan. For more information and the latest news about Turtle Bay Resort's SEIS, please log onto www.turtlebayseis.com. All previous articles that are part of our SEIS Community Updates are available online.

Our Proposed Action, otherwise known as our master plan, includes two hotel sites, four beachside parks, and a Gathering Place amongst many site and land improvements that will be done. A draft supplemental environmental impact statement (SEIS) is currently underway that will summarize possible environmental impacts, including traffic, of our Proposed Action; it is expected to be completed and made public sometime in the first half of this year.

Identifying, inventorying, and preserving the archaeological and cultural resources of the Turtle Bay Lands remains a critical component of our Proposed Action. Earlier, we previously provided information about a Supplemental Archaeological Inventory Survey (SAIS) that the resort owners have voluntarily authorized. Fieldwork has just completed and the resulting SAIS report will complement the already extensive amount of work that has been done for Turtle Bay Resort.

From 1977 to 2006, the Turtle Bay lands have been the subject of numerous archaeological investigations that have been documented in 21 separate reports. In 2006, this work was summarized in connection with the preparation of an archaeological mitigation plan by Cultural Surveys Hawaii for the then proposed development master plan. Three main areas have been subjected to archaeological study – Kawela Bay, Kahuku Point, and Punahou'olapa Marsh. An additional 14 sites were also investigated. No significant adverse impacts upon archaeological resources are anticipated but the possibility of such impacts will be studied and addressed in the draft SEIS. The draft SEIS will present in greater detail any specific measures that may be necessary to mitigate the effects of significant adverse impacts upon identified archaeological or cultural resources.

In addition to the voluntary SAIS that will soon be completed, a Cultural Impact Assessment will also be included in the draft SEIS that will identify valuable cultural resources in the project area, evaluate the impacts of the proposed project on these valuable resource, and allow us to develop appropriate mitigation measures to ensure that valuable resources are preserved and protected to extent possible, consistent with state laws. As with the SAIS, the draft SEIS will present in greater detail any specific measures that may be necessary to mitigate the effects of significant adverse impacts upon identified cultural resources.

With every aspect of our planning, we endeavor to preserve, enrich, and perpetuate the native Hawaiian culture as much as possible. Additionally, we will continue to strive to extend opportunities to the community for fellowship and cultural practice.

Taking a local business up to the “Cloud” and in to the Holy Land

By Amber Doig, owner of Financial Management Solutions (FMS)

Editor's note:

North Shore businesswomen Amber Doig recently closed her Hale'iwa office in the North Shore Marketplace. However, she is still in business in Hale'iwa, but has temporarily relocated to the nation of Israel using modern technology. Here's her exciting story.

I am still working in Hawaii but am available worldwide with the new virtual office capability using what is recently called “cloud” technology. Using the virtual office set up allows me to travel and basically take my office with me.

The Israel trip was by special invitation through the National Association of Christian Financial Consultants who want to partner with Christian and Jewish leaders in ministry, community, business and international policies. This trip was an intense immersion of tours, meetings, and ministry outreach education focusing on how to join with like minded entities and key directors to build awareness, cooperation, exchange of ideas, open avenues for blessing and investing directly in Israel in companies that uphold our true Judeo-Christian values.

The National Association of Christian Financial Consultants of which I have been a long standing member sponsored this first tour. This is the first attempt to introduce a “Common Values” concept in the investment arena. We met company CEO's, Economist, Ministry Directors, Israeli Army Commanders and Military personnel along with American pastors who all have a heart for God. Everyone involved wants to blaze a path built with mutual respect and reverence for The God of Israel, The God of the Bible, the Covenants and instructions still standing from the beginning. By coming together in Truth and having a clear voice of the real situation in Israel -the objective is to actively demonstrate Israel's and America's bond under God, our common Values (American laws and moral standards) came out of our Judeo roots. We are commanded by God to pray for the Peace of Jerusalem, and that God will bless those who bless Israel. No matter how much land, water, minerals or treaties of peace Israel has given up in the hope of peace with its neighbors-it has not been honored by them. They always want more. So giving up more land does not lead to peace. Many comprehend that the real battle is not about land, it is more about a spiritual battle.

The development of the Modern State of Israel is unique in it's geographic, global, and religious practices. It comes from such devastating and violent attacks from it's neighbors on all borders, on-going criticisms from the international community and

Special screening "Sex and Money" showing in Hale'iwa

A FREE showing of this amazing documentary that accurately highlights the issue of domestic minor sex trafficking will be shown February 25, 2012 @ 6:30 p.m. Historic Hale'iwa Gym/Waiialua Community Assoc. (Ages 15 and over)

Think slavery was abolished after the Civil War? Nothing can be farther from the truth. It is more prevalent in this day in age. Its called "human trafficking". Our islands are not exempt from this issue. Sex trafficking of minor children is a fast growing crime in America and yes, Oahu.

Why does this matter to you? We have a responsibility to protect our Keiki from this growing abuse. Slavery knows no bounds. All of our children are targets for this crime. It could be any one of our daughters, nieces, granddaughters, students, friends or ohana. As concerned community members, teachers, medical personnel, business owners, we need to take a stand as a North Shore Community against this issue. Please come and learn more about this growing crime and the need for aftercare services for girls rescued out of this bondage.

Take A Stand Against Exploitation of Children — Be Aware! For more information please contact Jessica at jessica@justiceprojecthawaii.org keiki. On February 25, 2012, there will be a free screening of the film/documentary Sex + Money: A National Search for Human Worth, 6:30pm at the Waiialua Community Association. This film showcases the problem of child sex trafficking in the United States, which exists here in Hawaii as well. Learn more about the problem and join in on the conversation.

We have a new member on our team at the State Capitol. Jesse Gelis joins us with a strong background in customer service. Jesse is a graduate of the University of Hawaii at Manoa, has a broad range of work experience and we are very fortunate to have him on our team.

We are participating in Art at the Capitol this year on March 2, 2012 from 5:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m., and artist Bill Braden will be here in room 319 at the State Capitol, showcasing his works of art of Kawela Bay, Sunset Beach and Waimea Valley. Join us for some light refreshments, meet Bill Braden, and view artwork by Bill Braden, Heather Brown, Bridgette Coley and Clark Little. Art at the Capitol is an opportunity for the public to view more than 450 works of art that are a part of the State's Art in Public Places Programs in the various offices at the State Capitol.

Questions, suggestions or concerns are always welcome. Feel free to call us at 586-6380, send an email to RepRiviere@capitol.hawaii.gov, or stop by The North Shore's Office in Room 319.

Waiialua Library Authors' Night - March 8

Book lovers of all ages will enjoy this chance to meet real authors, ask them questions, and even have them sign their books at the Friends of Waiialua Library Annual Authors' Night

Date: Thursday, March 8, 2012

Time: 6:30 p.m.

Place: Waiialua Library,
67-068 Kealohanui Street, Waiialua

There is something for everyone as these four accomplished local authors each share a bit about themselves and their writing.

Sue Cowing, You Will Call Me Drog - A quirky but wise puppet challenges the young hero to greater maturity as he copes with issues of contemporary life. While the story is seen through the eyes of a twelve-year-old boy, it is appropriate and appealing for youth and adults alike.

Janice Crowl, Kili and the Singing Tree Snails, This children's book, lavishly illustrated by Hari-nani Orme, gives a glimpse into the days when the Hawaiian kingdom flourished, and shows the importance of aloha in caring for Hawaii's land and native culture.

Ishmael Stagner, Kumu Hula, Roots and Branch- es, Hailed as the first comprehensive book on hula by a Native Hawaiian and Kumu Hula, this book eloquently captures the sacredness and the joy of all Hawaiian hula.

Victoria Kneubuhl, Murder Leaves Its Mark, Set in the old Haleiwa Hotel, this book is both an accurate Hawaiian social history and an Agatha Christie suspense novel.

As an added bonus, Victoria Kneubuhl will also bring Don't Look Back: Hawaiian Myths Made New, a collection of 17 tales of old Hawaii edited by Christine Thomas. Old meets new in this one-of-a-kind anthology, where Hawaii's best writers present favorite myths and legends in surprising contemporary settings.

Authors Night is free and will include pupu and door prizes.

Please call the library as soon as possible if ADA accommodations are needed for this program - 637-8286.

The debate over plastic bags

The production of plastic shopping bags dates to the early 1950s. The modern lightweight shopping bag came from Sweden in the early 1960s, leading to the design of a simple, strong bag with a high load-carrying capacity in 1965. From the mid-1980s onwards, plastic bags became common throughout the developed world and have all but replaced paper bags. Environmental activists estimate that between 500 billion and 1 trillion plastic bags are used each year worldwide. In 2009, the International Trade Commission reported that the number of bags used annually in the USA at 102 billion. Here in Hawaii we consume well over 300 million plastic bags a year, creating a major problem disposal problem. Plastic marine debris is lethal to millions of sea birds and other marine life. On land, next to cigarette butts, plastic bags are the most littered items on earth. Buildups of plastic bags clog drainage systems and contribute to flooding, as occurred in India twice in the last two decades and almost annually in Manila. It would be foolhardy to disagree with the need to resolve the negative impact of plastic bags on the environment. The source of the current heated debate locally and elsewhere is how we go about managing the problem of plastic bags. The Seattle City Council recently voted unanimously to ban plastic grocery bags and to charge a 5-cent fee on paper bags. But the vote only came in the aftermath of a contentious debate that is occurring across the country and has become a world wide issue. Three years ago, the Seattle was the first city in the country to approve a fee in paper and plastic, charging 20 cents for each bag provided to shoppers at retail stores. The hope was to reduce pollution by encouraging reusable bags though a financial disincentive. But the proposed 20-cent fee, scheduled to take effect in 2008, was soundly defeated in a mail-in voter referendum in the summer of 2009. A petition drive, financed largely by the plastic bag industry in a $1.4 million advertising campaign against the ban, turned the tide in the weeks before the vote. A city council staff member in support of the fee said wide margin of defeat was because people are more concerned about the high cost of living than what they use to take their groceries home. Seen by many as a successful measure, a five-cent tax levied on plastic bags in Washington, DC in January 2010 resulted in a decrease in consumption from 22.5 million to 3 million bags in the first month alone. But a study issued by the Americans for Tax Reform found that the District of Columbia's five-cent bag tax had a disproportionate impact on the city's poor and cost the city over 100 jobs. In the state of Hawaii, Oahu is the only one of the four counties without a ban on plastic bags. In view of the need to address this issue in spite of previous failed attempts, I introduced Bill 10 which will be heard by the City Council on Feb 15th and referred to the Committee on Public Works and Sustainability for review. I am optimistic that this time we can find common ground on a universal problem.

yet Israel is positioned to shift to unprecedented levels of growth and prosperity. Proof of God and the Truth in His Word. God is doing it. Women in Israel have equal rights, in the Middle East Israel is the only Democracy. Why aren't we currently as Americans and our present government pledging our commitment, resources and support with Israel as we have in the past? Aren't we fighting terror around the world, weren't all the security measures and laws restricting our rights implemented to protect Freedom and preserve Democracy? Where is America and especially the global news media -why are they silent about the truth and turning away blindly, twisting the truth.

The promises of God are being fulfilled before the world stage. There is nothing more important on the international scene than what is happening in history with Israel. Israel will be a light to the world. The world leaders, churches, and governments should come together to mobilize with Israel to rebuild relationships of understanding and the fulfillment of documented Bible prophesy.

Our unique delegation of Christian Financial Advisors and Investors have come together in Israel to commit to stand and work to preserve the survival of humanity, of our common values, to know the truth of our common threats, operating based on Faith, and God's commandments. Unlike any of the other countries around the world, the USA shares with Israel common values, threats, and faith which has profoundly influenced our laws, governments, vernacular, theology, and morals. The struggle we are facing is real and it is the survival of our way of life and our Judeo-Christian values and the spirit that keeps them living from generation to generation.

Unless an ideological shift happens now - Iran and Afghanistan will evolve into terrorist states again. Israel and the World are intertwined with the fate of Israel. There is a huge difference between those who know and those who believe but it is our responsibility to move on what we know.

Direct From Donovan

State Senator
Donovan Dela Cruz

Since the North Shore of Oahu has some of the best beaches in the state and is a popular area to frequent by both residents and visitors alike, I believe that we need to ensure that areas such as these are protected from the ravages of usage and its effects on the marine life. The following is a bill I introduced which is making its way through the process:

SB 2664, relating to marine life establishes a special fund for the marine life conservation program and authorizes the collection of user fees for marine life conservation districts. The marine life conservation program has provided the State with some of its most ecologically, economically, and scientifically valuable environmental assets. The comprehensive habitat protections authorized for marine life conservation districts have resulted in the unparalleled preservation of several near-shore reef ecosystems, presenting visitors, residents, and researchers with the unique opportunity to appreciate these relatively pristine marine areas. The increasing popularity of these extremely valuable sites may require greater measures to ensure the continued health of the ecosystems they contain. The Department of Land and

Natural Resources will need a more consistent and reliable source of funding to maintain these unique areas and to conserve and protect coral reef resources throughout the State.

4th Annual Art at the Capitol

The Legislature has been conducting an "Art in the Capitol" day each session. This allows the public an opportunity to view the various pieces of art work in legislators' offices that choose to participate in this event. My office will be participating as we did last year when a number of people came through my office. Fortunately, my schedule allowed me to be there for at least part of the time and I was able to explain some of the artwork in my office. Some of the pieces in my office belong to me personally while the others are state property. However, each piece chosen from the state collection was personally selected by me because of a particular significance for me. There is one piece of art that is of the Liliuokalani Church in Haleiwa that I obtained from the state collection. This year, Art at the Capitol will be held on Friday, March 2, 5:00-7:00 p.m. The State Foundation on Culture and the Arts reports that there are over 900 pieces of artwork in the state capitol. Some of the art work will not be accessible to the public if the office will not be participating in this event. There will be a documentary of Ruthadell Anderson, artist of the Senate and House tapestries, and Keiki Sato, sister of artist Tadashi Sato, who did the Aquarius mosaic.

Glamour and nostalgia blend to create an informative and fun evening in Hale'iwa

By Asia Fujikake

The North Shore Chamber of Commerce's Historic Preservation Committee held its third in a series of historical illustrated lectures on February 4, 2012 in the historic Hale'iwa Gym. North Shore author Vera Stone Williams' presentation was based on her book "WASPs, Women Airforce Service Pilots of World War II" recently republished by Pacific Historic Parks. Historian and aviator Captain Rick Rogers traced the history of aviation on Oahu's North Shore. The event was generously sponsored by Stearman Biplane Rides, LLC.

As a tribute to the era, the Hale'iwa Gym became a time warp, transporting guests to a moment in history when war threatened the safety of our country, women were called upon to fly planes in the armed forces, and airfields were scattered across the North Shore of Oahu. Passing by vintage military vehicles provided courtesy of the Military Historical Vehicles Association, and ushered in under a sign replicating the Avenger Field Archway by volunteers in aviation attire made one feel they were about to experience a piece of history firsthand. Memorabilia and old photos adorned tabletops and complimentary commemorative World War II posters were offered by the Naval Air Museum Barbers Point. Members of The Naval Air Museum at Barbers Point who dressed up in World War II American and Japanese aviator uniforms also had a table showcasing a selection of interesting aviation related items from their museum.

Publisher's representative and historian Daniel Martinez introduced Vera Williams who too contributed to the atmosphere in a 1940's inspired Santiago blue ensemble complete with pin-curl hair, and of course, red lipstick. Williams' lecture included a brief look at the step-by-step process of becoming a WASP, as well as mentioning some of the key players in WASP history, including Jackie Cochran. Although they made a valid contribution to the U.S. Armed Forces, WASPs were scarcely acknowledged by the U.S. government until 1977, when they were awarded veteran status with no benefits by President Carter. And, again, in 2010 when President Obama awarded the female pilots with their long overdue Congressional Gold Medals. Cochran fought for the miniaturization of the WASP program and its members, writing detailed reports to congress, and purchasing uniforms to support their legitimacy. Despite the adversity they experienced in their service to the WASP program, Williams assured the audience that, "rather than being bitter about the short length of their service, they looked upon those two years as the best years of their lives."

Following Williams was an outstanding performance by Kahuku High School's award winning Vocal Motion who sang the old time classic, "The Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy." During intermission, a photographic presentation of life in the Islands during World War II was presented courtesy of the Hawaii War Records Depository and the former Honolulu Advertiser and Star Bulletin newspapers while patrons enjoyed an array of refreshments.

Following intermission, Captain Rick Rogers took the stage, and like Williams dressed up for the occasion sporting a vintage pilot suit during his talk about the North Shore airfields. Rogers revelation that there were four airfields on the North Shore, including the little known Pu'uiki airstrip surprised many in the audience. The Dillingham Airfield, named after Henry Gaylord Dillingham and once called the Mokuleia Army Airfield, Rogers says was used during the war for army training and by the Hawaiian Air Force following the attack on Pearl Harbor. He went on to recall the famous Taylor and Welch story in reference to the Hale'iwa Airfield, noting that the area is now mainly recognized for its television appearances. Rogers also included the Kahuku Airfield which was once paved with runways serving B-17s, B-24s, as well as cargo planes, and now shares its space with the Turtle Bay Resort.

To culminate the nostalgic atmosphere for the evening, swing dancers from the Arthur Murray Dance Studio took to the stage, encouraging guests to join in with them as Williams autographed books.

SeaHawaii Womens Pro at Pipeline $30,000.00 Cash & Prizes

This year's SeaHawaii Womens Pro Pipeline is shaping up to host 150 eager Pipeline surfers in the three days of the 15-day waiting period.

The Women will be taking the level up a notch propelling themselves in line for prestigious contracts, notoriety, and all-important personal self-fulfillment.

Pipeline is a highly technical and strategic playground that requires advanced athletic expertise, confidence and unwavering determination. The attack on the wave is unique. Women are more particular in choice, while remaining cunning, sleek, and cautiously Giselle-like in approach. Like a ballerina doing spotted balanced turns over and over and over. It is difficult!

This years event adds a new twist, Junior surfers are set to challenge the most prestigious spot on the planet. Surfing, like gymnastics has a younger and younger contingent. The current World Champion Carissa Moore from Hawaii gained the title at just 18. Hawaii's 20 and under surfers need points to go on tour. It is becoming harder and harder to even get into events so surfing at Pipeline in a 2 star rated event will be a first for them. Last year's runner up in short boarding Brianna Cope recently won the North Shore Surf Shop Jr. Pro at Sunset and is set to tango. "This means good points for my Jr. career, I just want to get some real tubes, I am stepping it up," said Brianna. The Jr. Men will also have an event, a three star. Something Hawaii needs desperately.

Some of the best tube riders will be on hand. Keala Kennelly just off an injury that caused her some plastic surgery repair has been out at Pipeline charging. "I gotta do it my way," said Kennelly. "I just gotta wait for the perfect barrels or I am not satisfied, I hope they come to me this year. Pipeline is the ultimate proving ground and I think it is great for our sport to give the Woman a crack at it in a contest." The bodyboarders have been surfing competitively at Pipeline for 23 years and are seasoned tube riders. Leila Alli is chomping at the bit. Leila is known for her giant tube expertise and travels the world to find them.

Defending champion Karla Costa Taylor and current World Champion Eunat Aguirre will also compete. The hottest are in Hawaii, a place the whole world loves! Pipeline at the top of the list.

SeaHawaii's goal is to bring awareness of the sensitivity of the environment and ecological changes to our oceans. "SeaHawaii is proud to be supporting the event at Pipeline," said SeaHawaii CEO Joe Pickard. "We couldn't be happier to be not only supporting our Hawaiian community of Woman surfers but also Woman surfers from around the World. To everyone we hope that you find the SeaHawaii Womens Pro at Pipeline inspirational and motivating." Locally owned and operated SeaHawaii was born and raised on the North Shore in Kahuku. The company is an environmentally based group that absolutely "Love the Ocean", a trademark. Their dedication to our environment is a great fit for the event something the Pipeline Womens Pro has worked towards since its inception. Check the official web site for more information.

UH Cancer Center and Xcel launch "I Love The Skin I'm In" awareness campaign

Calling all young Hawaii artists! Do you like to draw? Create graphics? Would you like to see your t-shirt design sold in Hawaii? You've now got the chance. Join the University of Hawaii Cancer Center and Xcel in the fight against skin cancer by creating a design that will be featured on an Xcel Ventx sun-protective t-shirt. One winning design will be produced and sold in stores in summer 2012 - and if you're the winning artist, you'll also walk away with an iPad 2.

- A few contest details:
- Design Theme: Inform and motivate young adults to help prevent skin cancer. With approximately 5,000 new skin cancer cases diagnosed every year, Hawaii's youth are among those at greatest risk for developing this easily preventable disease.
  - Entry Period: February 10 through March 31, 2012. Entrants: Open to all Hawaii state residents, ages 13 through 25.
  - Grand Prize: One winning designer will receive an iPad 2; and his/her winning design will be produced on an Xcel sun-protective Ventx t-shirt and sold in stores summer 2012.
  - Winners Announced: National Skin Cancer Awareness month, on Saturday, May 12 at the I Love the Skin I'm In campaign event (Kapiolani Park Bandstand). Event to feature live entertainment, free skin cancer screenings, cancer education booths, food trucks, and more.

Full contest details can be found online at www.uhcancercenter.org. For any contest questions, please email cpascual@cc.hawaii.edu, or call (808) 356-5758.
