OFF da Island at Plymouth Rock

Not too long ago Maryanne Long from Koolau'loa enjoyed a two-month visit with her mother on Cape Cod, Massachusetts. She is pictured here holding a recent copy of the NSN over the genuine Plymouth Rock in Plymouth, Mass., where the first pilgrims set foot on North America in 1620 to begin their new life at Plimoth Plantation. Two months was a long time away from home in Hawaii and Maryanne was wise to pack a few copies of the NSN to remind her of the good times back on Oahu's beautiful North Shore. California vs. Texas vs. Coyote

(Author unknown)

CALIFORNIA :

The Governor of California is jogging with his dog along a nature trail.

A coyote jumps out and attacks the Governor's dog, then bites the Governor.

1. The Governor starts to intervene, but reflects upon the movie "Bambi" and then realizes he should stop because the coyote is only doing what is natural.
2. He calls Animal Control. Animal Control captures the coyote and bills the State $200 testing it for diseases and $500 for relocating it.
3. He calls a veterinarian. The vet collects the dead dog and bills the State $200 testing it for diseases.
4. The Governor goes to hospital and spends $3,500 getting checked for diseases from the coyote and on getting his bite wound bandaged.
5. The running trail gets shut down for 6 months while Fish & Game conducts a $100,000 survey to make sure the area is now free of dangerous animals.
6. The Governor spends $50,000 in state funds implementing a "coyote awareness program" for residents of the area.
7. The State Legislature spends $2 million to study how to better treat rabies and how to permanently eradicate the disease throughout the world.
8. The Governor's security agent is fired for not stopping the attack. The State spends $150,000 to hire and train a new agent with additional special training re: the nature of coyotes.
9. PETA protests the coyote's relocation and files a $5 million suit against the State.

TEXAS:

The Governor of Texas is jogging with his dog along a nature trail. A Coyote jumps out and attacks his dog.

1. The Governor shoots the coyote with his State-issued pistol and keeps jogging. The Governor has spent $0.50 on a .45 ACP hollow point cartridge.
 2. The Buzzards eat the dead coyote.
- And that, my friends, is why California is broke and Texas is not.

Cholesterol: The Good & the Bad

Cholesterol is found in a variety of foods and your liver produces cholesterol. Different parts of your body, such as the brain, skin and organs contain cholesterol. There is also good and bad cholesterol. You usually get four numbers in a cholesterol check: total cholesterol—should be less than 200; HDL (high density lipoprotein) the good—more than 40, the higher the better; LDL (low density lipoprotein) the bad—less than 100; and triglycerides, the ugly—less than 150.

What factors affect your cholesterol? One factor is your diet. The solid fat in meat and chicken skin are saturated fats which make your LDL higher. Oils, like canola, olive and macadamia nut, are considered mono-unsaturated and actually help break down bad cholesterol. Foods like beans and lentils also help in lowering “bad.” The extra food you eat is converted into fat in your body. In general, people who eat a diet of high fiber, small amounts of saturated fats and moderate amounts of food, have healthy cholesterol levels.

Other factors include lack of exercise, obesity, your genes, certain diseases, and some drugs. Exercise breaks down the “bad/ugly” and increases the “good.” Genes—if most of your family have “high cholesterol” (despite a good diet and exercise), your liver will probably have a tendency to produce more cholesterol than needed. Uncontrolled diabetes, low thyroid, too much alcohol, smoking, body-building steroids and some high blood pressure medications can also cause high triglycerides.

North Shore Christian community stunned by identity of shooting suspect in random rampage

By Ron Valenciana

Many on Oahu's North Shore awoke Friday, June 3, 2011 to shocking news reports that a well-known young man had been arrested after allegedly going on a random shooting rampage. When the rampage was over a 54 year-old Palolo woman was dead and two others were seriously injured.

The alleged suspect grew up in Hale'iwa and attended area schools. Toby Stangel, 28, of Wahiawa, was arrested not long after the random rampage began. He appeared in court on Monday, June 6 and is now facing a 20 felony count indictment including murder, attempted murder and firearms charges. He is being held on $5 million bail and facing second-degree murder charges in the death of 54-year-old mother of 10, Tammy Nguyen of Palolo. He was also charged with seven counts of attempted murder and various firearm violations. Stangel had no previous felonies.

Wounded during Friday's shootings were 24-year-old Amie Lou Asuncion of Kalihi and 38-year-old Samson Naupoto of Salt Lake, who are recovering in hospitals. Five others were shot at but weren't injured including two police officers.

Toby Stangel's father is well-known and the senior minister of the North Shore Christian Fellowship in Hale'iwa for more than 20 years. Pastor Mike Stangel and his wife Karen were in California on the day of the alleged shootings. Soon after the incident Pastor Stangel shared these words through a church spokesperson; “We are broken and sick with grief. Our hearts and prayers go out to the innocent families who have been affected by this tragic act. We wish we had an explanation, but there simply is none. Those who know us, know we have always loved our son with an unconditional love. We thank all of you who have sent us your love, prayers & support. We are looking to the Lord Jesus for guidance, strength & comfort.”

Members of the North Shore Christian Fellowship and friends have been hard-pressed to understand what led Toby to commit the alleged crimes he has been charged with. Several prayer meetings were quickly organized following the tragic news helping many to find some solace but few answers. The Sunday church service two days later on June 5 was turned into an emotional prayer meeting focusing on the victims' families as well as the Stangel family.

Police say the shooting spree appeared to be random, with none of the victims knowing the suspect.

It began at 12:43 a.m. Friday, June 3, when Stangel got out of his car, walked up to vehicles stopped in an intersection in Kaimuki and opened fire, according to police. Nguyen was shot in her van with her 16-year-old daughter sitting beside her. She died later that morning.

Toby Stangel is accused of opening fire again about 10 minutes later on the H-1 freeway near the Houghtailing and Likelike Highway exits, shooting Kalihi resident Amie Lou Asuncion, 24, twice in the shoulder after ramming her vehicle. Salt Lake resident Samson Naupoto, 28, was shot when he stopped to help her.

Police say a short while later the gunman fired at two police officers that were conducting a traffic stop but no one was hurt. Toby was arrested without incident.

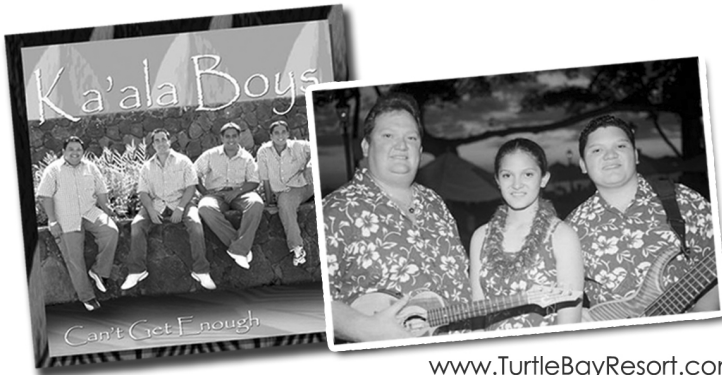

A memorial fund has been established to help pay for funeral expenses for the late Tammy Nguyen. Her family is asking for help through donations to a memorial fund, a family spokesman said. Donations may be made to the “Tammy Nguyen Memorial Fund” at any Bank of Hawaii branch; or by mail to the Bank of Hawaii, Tammy Nguyen Memorial Fund, 2233 Ahe Street 32-B, Honolulu 96816.

Time travelers at Dillingham Airfield

On Saturday, May 14 at the Dillingham Airfield in Mokuleia, William Noyes III helped organized a Retired Hawaiian Airlines Pilots gathering featuring flights given aboard a brand newly restored Ballanca Pathfinder airplane...the first ever flown by Hawaiian and recently discovered, one of only two planes of this make left.

It is the same plane that Lindburg originally ordered but told by the Italian manufacturers he would have to wait 2 years to get it. So Lucky Lindbergh came back to America and had his plane built in the US and flew it to France for his world famous trans-Atlantic flight. A Ballanca made the second trans-Atlantic flight...but whoever remembers the runner up?

Pamela Noyes, Williams' wife, decided there was a need for herself and friends to dress up like stewardesses of that era and serve the guests pineapple juice, as had been done in the beginning of Hawaiian Airlines passenger travel. She created the matching uniforms and hats, an artistic version based on those pictured in historic photos from the 1920s, 30s and 40s.

The retired pilots admired the good looking flight attendants dressed up from time past. The gorgeous and talented retired stewardesses even made up an original song and sang and danced a hula honoring the day's effort titled "Na Mea Ballanca o Waialua".

Direct From Donovan

State Senator
Donovan Dela Cruz

Of the measures that I was able to have passed, I consider one of the most significant to be SB 1555, signed by the Governor, and now Act 55. However, there are a number of people who do not understand the implications or significance of this act.

I introduced this measure because I believed that the State of Hawaii needs to be competitive in the global economic marketplace. With the federal government cutting back on its funding to local governments, we cannot rely solely on federal funds for economic stimulus. And we found out how a catastrophic occurrence in other parts of the world can affect us economically by the reduction of visitors to the island. So, although the state relies on tourism to support our economy, we cannot put all our eggs in one basket, so to speak.

The Department of Land and Natural Resources (DLNR) has jurisdiction over 1.3 million acres of land in the state. Act 55 allows the conversion of unproductive public lands into a diverse growth industry rather than let these lands remain in ineffective use. This Act establishes the Public Lands Corporation, which will be the development arm of DLNR. Applicable public lands will be placed under the corporation's jurisdiction and the corporation will serve as a public land development program that will identify the lands suitable for development or redevelopment, initiate marketing analyses to determine the best revenue-generating use for the land, enter into public-private partnerships to (re)develop the land, and provide leadership for the development, financing, and improvement of the selected use. It will also allow rehabilitation of supporting infrastructure.

The Public Lands Corporation will consist of the directors of DLNR, Department of Business, Economic Development and Tourism, Budget and Finance, Hawaii Community Development Authority, and an executive director, planner, and project-development specialist. This corporation will attempt to make optimal use of public lands for the economic benefit of the people of Hawaii through aggressive diversified mixed-use enterprises. This may also encourage businesses to establish here. The revenues generated may be used to help sustain DLNR without its dependence on general funds and allow it to maintain essential levels of operation at a time when the state faces a budget deficit of $1.3 billion resulting in cutbacks in departments.

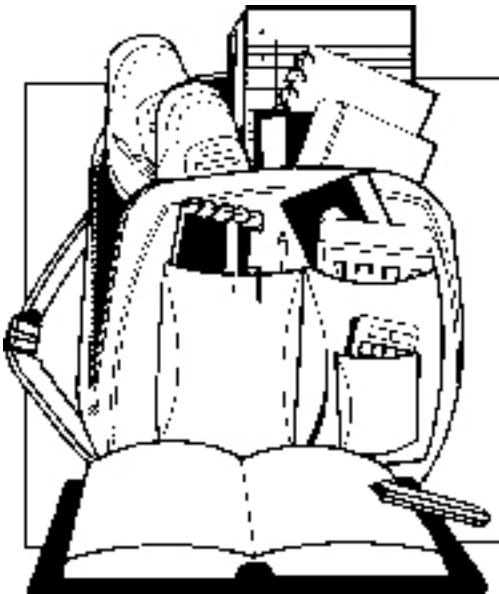

The State, as one of the largest land owners with great real estate potential, will have an opportunity to generate revenues off these lands to help reduce the budget deficit and help to stimulate the economy.

A Message From State Representative Gil Riviere

What's the plan?

Homelessness is increasing on the North Shore, as anyone can plainly see. Governor Abercrombie recently announced an action plan to address the crisis, but his plan is geared for Honolulu. So what is happening to address the homeless problem on the North Shore?

Ho`ala Housing and Resource Center, located in the Post Office building, provides counseling and support on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Affordable Housing and Homeless Alliance (AHHA), is at the Waiialua Community Association on Wednesdays to support personalized plans for permanent housing. The Waikiki Community Health Center is available for a multitude of outreach services and Pastor Ron Valenciana runs a food bank on Wednesdays out of the North Shore News office.

The North Shore Neighborhood Board Homeless Committee has been working on various projects to help different segments of the homeless population. Committee Chair Kathleen Pahinui will be presenting one such plan at the next Neighborhood Board meeting at 7 p.m. on June 28th.

There are many worthy organizations and many good people working to help the homeless. There remain, however, many individuals who lack the drive to get out their predicament. Of the able-bodied in the homeless community, we have to ask, "What is your plan?" We have to be willing to help and we have to expect the homeless to act on their plan.

Living in the bushes is not a plan. Smoking drugs all night is not a plan. Sitting in the park all day is not a plan. Expecting rents to become substantially lower is not a plan. Doing the same thing repeatedly and expecting different results is not a plan.

Homelessness is not going to disappear overnight, but that does not mean we can give up. There are countless causes and there is no silver bullet, but rather, solutions will be as various as the problems. It is unreasonable to expect homelessness to be solved simply by instructing the police to shoo people away, but it is appropriate to call 911 to report illegal activity, especially in threatening situations.

Being homeless is a short term crisis for many people, but it can be debilitating for others, especially when homelessness is prolonged. We have to be compassionate and helpful, but not irresponsible with assistance. Our efforts should be directed at helping the homeless improve their situation through their hard work. Effort and personal responsibility are required.

To report illegal activity, call 911. If you need help or want to find help for someone else, please check with the groups previously mentioned, call my office at 586-6380, or send an email to RepRiviere@capitol.hawaii.gov.

Hurricane Season is here: Be prepared

By Councilman Ernie Martin

June 1st marks the official beginning of hurricane season. Although the National Weather Service Central Pacific Hurricane Center has forecast a below normal hurricane season, residents must still remain aware and prepared. North Shore residents have often weathered dangerously high winter surf and strong winds but a hurricane warning is something to take very seriously. The City's Department of Emergency Management urges residents to prepare for the possibility of a hurricane by taking some simple precautions. "In 1992 Hurricane Iniki a Category 4 storm system devastated the island of Kauai," said Melvin Kaku, director for the department of Emergency Management. "Although the full force of Iniki impacted Kauai, Oahu was not spared. We suffered flooded homes from rain and storm surge, island-wide power outages, blown off roofs and tens-of-thousands of dollars of damage to public and private infrastructure. We must be aware of the hazards hurricanes and tropical storms present and be prepared at all times during hurricane season." Take the time today to discuss hurricane preparedness with family friends and co-workers. The FEMA website www.READY.gov contains disaster preparedness and planning documents as well as lists for essential emergency items in English as well as other languages. All residents should consider developing an emergency preparedness kit containing a five to seven day supply of the following items. These items are good year round for any emergency that may affect Oahu. Essential items to include in your emergency preparedness kit are:

- Water - A gallon of water per person per day for drinking and sanitation.
- Food - Non-perishable food that does not require cooking to consume. Local foods such as Spam, corned beef and Vienna Sausages are handy.
- Radio - Battery-powered or hand crank radio and a NOAA Weather Radio with tone alert and extra batteries for both.
- Light - Flashlight and/or a portable fluorescent light and extra batteries.
- Medical Supplies - First Aid Kit, prescription medications and glasses.
- Pet Supplies - Pet food, pet carrier and extra water for your pet.
- Important Documents - Stored in a watertight container.

In addition to emergency supplies everyone should have a disaster plan, an out-of-state emergency contact and be prepared by learning all you can about the disasters that could affect us here in Hawaii. These simple suggestions could help see you and your family safely through the storm.

Together we can move some mountains

By Annie Gerstenberger

I was born 42 years ago in Sumatra – Indonesia. I moved to the North Shore about 18 years ago married to Greg Gerstenberger. We have 2 wonderful kids Wina and Reese. It is wonderful to live in a country where the freedom of speech and the freedom to express what we believe, is allowed. Ever since I moved to this beautiful North Shore, I have always wanted to be part of the community involved in various ways. I take every opportunity to get to know others.

I remember as a little girl I saw a program on television about poverty and starvation; children who died of AIDS or other illness. I also remember reading a quote by Gandhi; “ No matter how significant what you do may seem, it is important that you do it.” As a child I was raised to believe that, and to this day I do my best to live it.

When I was 11, I was babysitting my neighbor's kids and I saved what I earned. My parents were involved in a local charity so I donated a little with what I earned from babysitting to that charity. At that time I knew that I had found something that mattered to me, and it changed my whole mind-set.

Here's something that matters to me right now: every 15 seconds, a child dies because of a lack of clean water and sanitation. It only takes so little to change to make a difference in their lives.

I've recently taken a few trips to Malawi – Africa and one trip to the Philippines. Each time I go, I always learn something new. Yes... we have read about extreme poverty and possible solutions, but it's really powerful when you get to meet the people and shake their hands, hug them and listen to their stories.

There's so much need, it's hard to decide where to give, but I always pray to my God and Savior to guide my heart and show me where and how to share His blessings. I follow my godly feelings. I have faith in Him. Jesus Christ said; "I tell you the truth, if you can say to this mountain 'Move from here to there' and it will move. Nothing will be impossible for you. (Matthew 17:20b)

For me by providing access to clean water could prevent many deadly diseases. I can't think any more important value to instill in our children than the desire to help others. I fell strongly about setting an example for them. Real problems can be solved by the next generation if we instill in them the right values now.

I am not a politician and I don't want to tell anybody how to live. But I must say that all these years later, I still think Gandhi had the right idea; No matter how small the contribution we make may seem, it's crucial that we all do our part. God will make all things possible.

Please find out what you can do to make a difference. Take a few minutes to educate yourself on an issue you didn't know about before then tell somebody else. Please find a local charity near you and find out how they use the money donated. Every dollar counts. Charitable foundations would rather have a million people donated $1.00/each than have a handful of people donate big checks, because that means millions of us are getting involved. If you give $5.00 and talk to your neighbor about giving $5.00, that's a big deal. If that conversation goes on across the country, we'll really start moving some mountains (Matthew 17:20).

A Malawi woman eagerly pumps a newly installed water well. Now instead of walking miles for fresh water she walks a few yards thanks to Annie and her supporters. Outside the well wall is a sign that reads: "JESUS CHRIST SAYS: WHOEVER DRINKS OF THIS WATER WILL THIRST AGAIN... BUT WHOEVER DRINKS THE WATER THAT I GIVE HIM WILL NEVER THIRST AGAIN."

We are here for such a short time, when your grandkids study history, don't you want them to be proud that you're part of this solution? Surely God will bless you even more.

With God's provision this year (my 4th years) I will be going to Malawi-Africa to provide and build a clean water infrastructure in another village. I thank the Once A Month Church, friends and family for supporting this mission. If anyone wants to know more about this, please call (808) 393-1513 or Pastor Ron Valenciana (Once A Month Church) (808) 342-3969.

Annie Gerstenberger lives in Sunset Beach. She owns a catering business and her husband Greg manages the Ke Iki Bungalows.

Annie speaks with a local contractor near a Malawi village before drilling a new well. The cost (approx. $10,000 US) is covered completely by Annie and her supporters.

Surf Newz by Ace Cool

Howzit North Shore! Long time no see you guys around?! Well not everybody! If you were out in the water within earshot of me all winter, what can I say? Sorry, eh! I screamed for joy, stoked as a perpetual grommet as swell after wrapping swell of primarily "freight train rights" broke outside and to the east of the point at the "Turtle Beach" at Laniakea. I call the spot "HoldDowns". The webcams call it "Hultins". In truth, the 3 notorious Holton brothers once lived there and ruled it. The waves are kind of fickle out there and I am a real wave hog. So if I did not see you until long after dark generally or not at all until the winter was almost over particularly, hope you didn't miss me much. I am back! In the North Shore News that is. I saw a lot of you out in the surf almost everyday. At least the turtles always maintain that 'West of Waimea Bay' casual aplomb of Aloha. They know that they are all rock stars with their own fan club. The "Honu" at our world-famous "Turtle BayWatch Beach" have their own bodyguards, friends and secret admirers. Hooray for the "turtle guardians" of Malama Na Honu. They make a difference every day. Even when no get turtles! I mostly direct traffic and fill in when needed with the turtles and tourists. Did you want me to call a turtle for you? It sounds like a friendly conch shell yodel being played through the throat and septum. This 'sonar chant' is like a combination of the sounds of a Hawaiian nose flute and an Australian aboriginal didgeridoo! The "Honus" think it rocks!

What a great winter of surf it was to just go surfing! Staying out after dark and waiting for the "bomb". That one perfect last wave coming to take me home as the purple and pink sunset fades to bright stars and moonlight. Leave the surfboard in the back of the truck, the waves will still be good in the morning. I close Malama Market or even Foodland sometimes with wet hair and still in my wetsuit with sand on my feet!

Laniakea and other infamous spots catch those good North and even North-East swells as they come wrapping in and around from the windward side of Oahu. Sizzling rights blaze through places like Lanis and other lesser known outer reefs and semi-secret spots. The waves are so "down the line" on these North Swells that sometimes you just have to break the speed limit. Walk on the water. The best waves even break your surfboard in half without breaking your heart because they're so worth it! Lucky we surf Hawaii!

In the world of less laid back day to day highly competitive pro surfing out on the 2011 ASP World

Tour Circuit Kelly Slater took an early lead by beating all others at the year's 1st WCT/ASP event. He won the $425,000 Quiksilver Pro in Queensland on the Gold Coast of Australia between February 26 and March 9 starting at #1 on the Men's ASP/WCT rankings. Australian Joel Parkinson won the $425,000 Rip Curl Pro presented by Ford Ranger at Bells Beach between March 19-30. Brazilian Adriano De Souza won the $500,000 Billabong Rio Pro at Rio De Janeiro, Brazil between April 11 -22. Kelly Slater sits at #3 going into the 4th event, the $425,000 Billabong Pro at Jeffreys Bay in South Africa from July 14-24. Then the Billabong Pro Teahupoo, French Polynesia at Tairapu in Tahiti August 20-31 is on. Then the newest and richest event in ASPsurftourdom. The $1,000,000 Quiksilver New York Pro at Long Island from September 4-15. The 2011 ASP/WCT has a final showdown for the men at Pipeline, Hawaii December 8-20.

Hawaii girl Carissa Moore is at #1 on the ASP/WCT women's tour with fellow Hawaii girl Coco Ho following on her heels at #6 on the ASP 2011 WCT! Australians including Sally Fitzgibbons at #2, Tyler Wright at #3 and Stephanie Gilmore at #4 show OZ girls tread. Silvana Lima of Peru rounds the ASP/WCT women's rankings at #5. The Hawaiian Boys are raging on the ASP Longboard Tour with Duane Desoto #1 and Antoine Delpero of France at #2. Rusty Keaulana is #3 and Bonga Perkins is #4. Only Joy Monahan hangs in for Hawaii on the womens ASP/Longboard Tour at #3. Newcomer Jack Freestone from OZ has the Jrs so far. Alizee Arnaud of France tops the women Pro Jrs. Aloha...Ace Cool!

Hawaiians sweep inaugural SUPCross

Vail, CO - Hawaiians won the top spots in the inaugural Stand Up Paddle Cross event at the 10th Annual Teva Mountain Games held in Colorado. Mariko Strickland of Kauai and Noa Ginella who hails from Hawaii's legendary North Shore, both paddling for SUPCross presenting sponsor C4 Waterman, won the men's and women's divisions of the hard-charging, elbows and paddles flying test of paddling skill, strategy and determination.

Both Ginella and Strickland echoed the fact that winning SUPCross tactics include a combination of speed, focusing on the line and mental toughness. In all, nearly 40 paddlers entered the inaugural SUP-Cross event. C4 Waterman co-founder Todd Bradley was noticeably thrilled with the turnout and crowd enthusiasm for the SUPCross event not to mention proud of his team as well as the fact that five of the eight finalists were riding C4 Waterman rigid inflatable stand up paddle boards.

Bake Sale is BACK! @ Waiialua Library

Saturday, June 18 is the date for our sixth annual bake sale. This popular event held in combination with the monthly book sale, has been very profitable for Waiialua Library, thanks to the generosity of so many donors of baked goods, chutney, jams, jellies, pickles, and more. We will again have our "Starbooks" coffee shop, where buyers can relax with Waiialua coffee, lemonade, cookies and cupcakes while visiting with friends or enjoying a good read found at the adjacent book sale. Success, of course, depends on the participation of many supporters of the library, so if you would like to help by donating or by working at the sale, sign-up sheets will be in the library during the month of May, or you can call Petie McManus at 637-7446. Mark your calendars, spread the word, assemble your favorite recipes, and get ready for another great bake sale!

TIPS ON HURRICANE PREPAREDNESS

From the American Red Cross

- Assemble a disaster supplies kit: The kit should have supplies to last five to seven days for you and your family to include medications, non-perishable food, nonelectric can opener, bottled water, battery-powered radio, flashlight and extra batteries, bedding, extra clothes, copies of important documents, cash, first-aid kit and some household tools.
- Create an evacuation plan: Choose two places — one within your neighborhood and another outside of your neighborhood — for your family to meet, such as a friend's home or a shelter. A list of hurricane evacuation shelters statewide is available at www.scd.hawaii.gov.
- Create a family contact list: Make an emergency card that contains work, school and cellphone numbers for each family member. Also include an out-of-state contact in the event local phone lines are out of service or overloaded.

For more information on ways to prepare for a natural disaster, go to the American Red Cross-Hawaii State Chapter website at www.hawaiiredcross.org.
