to a range of sounds, such as doorbells, telephones, knocking, alarm clocks, smoke alarms, a baby crying, key words and people's names.

- -Mobility dogs pull wheel chairs, brace and support for transfer to beds and assist with walking, open and closes doors, turn light switches on and off, deliver phones, retrieve and drop off items.
- -Social therapy dogs bring love and joy to people in hospitals, convalescent homes, senior centers and
- -Buddy dogs help at risk teenagers learn the principles of canine behavior, training and grooming skills-so they can be productive, caring, and contributing members
- -"Willie Dogs" listen attentively to young children read. Their presence as friendly therapy dogs helps low level readers gain confidence and enjoy reading.
- -PTSD dogs for veterans provide them with task dogs such as blocking their owners from people in front of them, watch my back dogs sit behind their owners so people cannot sneak up on them, medical alert dogs are trained to wake owners up from nightmares with nudges to the body, check out dark rooms and retrieve medications.
- -Educate businesses on laws of service dogs.

All FI-DO dogs are Labradoodles and Labradors. Their Labradoodle breed is from the original stock of Labradoodles from Australia. They are the only standard Labradoodle breeder in Hawaii. Labradoodles do not shed so they are easy to care for and people with dog allergies love them. All licensed service dogs are not to protect, they must have a docile personality and easy to train. They can learn up to 90 commands. There is a 2-3 year wait list to get a dog from FI-DO, during your wait you must volunteer with your dog the whole time.

All of FI-DO services are free and everything is accomplished from volunteers. FI-DO is in need of corporate business sponsors and private donations. A very big percentage of the FI-DO dogs go to veterans with PTSD but FI-DO Hawaii along with the other 160 accredited service dogs centers in the U.S. have not seen one cent from the VA, State or any Federal funding. I takes an average of 15,000 – 20,000 dollars to train one service dog. All FI-DO donations come from charities and private donors.

You can also help raise a puppy. During the first year to 18 months, puppies need to live in a loving home with a fenced yard and an owner with enough time daily to just spend loving and teaching the pup basic obedience. For more information or to donate to FI-DO service dogs, don't hesitate to contact us.

Ke Ala Pupukea Revitalization

As readers may recall from my last column, Vance Farrant, Rocky Point resident and a summer intern in my Council Office, chose the Ke Ala Pupukea Bike Path as a community service project. On July 29th, Vance and neighbor Drew Wilkinson held an informational meeting at Sunset Beach Recreation Center to introduce the community to the project. Their goal is to restore, maintain, and improve the Ke Ala Pupukea Bike Path that runs from Three Tables to O'opuola Street. City and County officials were present to field questions from the residents and share their thoughts on the project. Rex Dubiel Shannahan, a member of the North Shore Outdoor Circle and an early supporter of the project who has coordinated many community work days in the past, gave a brief history of the bike path. The following is a report from Vance on his presentation at the community meeting:

"After attendees heard the background of the path, Drew and I proceeded to explain the details of our project. It is not about what the City and County is doing or not doing for the bike path, but rather what we the community members can do to make it better. Although the City and County remains accountable for the bike path, our goal is to have community members working together with the City to take good care of this public resource. The focus of the project is more on the future of the path, uniting community members into a joint effort to manage the bike path. With all of us in the community working together, this massive job becomes more manageable.

There will be workdays held on the second Sunday of every month in the evenings from 3-7pm (times will change based on daylight). The first workday is on August 10th, meeting where the bike path ends at O'opuola Street. Volunteers will move down the path, doing basic maintenance, planting, plant removal, and minor landscaping. Planting along the path will depend on the area of the path, as well as other considerations. When we do plant, we want to focus on planting edible or native plants. An important thing to remember is that Drew and I, as well as others involved in this project, will try our best to make sure all changes made to the bike path are in the best interests of the community, and approved by residents in the area as well as the City and County.

We are accepting donations of plants, tools and supplies, and monetary donations. Drew and I are also looking for residents along the bike path that would like contribute water for sustaining plants along the path or have native or edible plants in their area. If vou are interested in contributing in any way, e-mail malamakealapupukeabikepath@gmail.com. You can also visit the project website; malamakealapupukeabikepath.com. If you are able to join us, please RSVP via email for the first workday on Sunday, August 10th. Mahalo, Vance Farrant"

I would like to thank Vance and Drew for their initiative on this project and encourage the residents to support their efforts to improve the condition of the path and surrounding areas. I also want to thank those residents who have supported the bike path since its creation so many years ago. With the next generation like Vance taking greater responsibility for the bike path, it will be a vital part of the community for many more years to come.

North Shore Restrooms Need Maintenance

By Bill Quinlan

At the North Shore Neighborhood Board Meeting held on Tuesday July 23, Jack Reid and I made a presentation to the new Director of the Parks and Recreation Department, Michele Nekota, that included photos that clearly showed how badly stained and poorly maintained the eestrooms at our North Shore Beach Parks are.

Thanks to Randy Rarick and sponsors of the Triple Crown of Surfing, $15,000 was donated to the Parks Department in June, which allowed it to engage an outside contractor to acid clean and paint the restrooms at Ali'i Beach Park.

In our presentation we included before and after photos of one of the Ali'i Beach Park restrooms to show how much improvement can be made with relatively small expense, and asked the Director how the community could help her to get the rest of the restrooms up to the same standard as Ali'i Beach Park as quickly as possible.

Our Beach Park restrooms are suffering from many years of underfunding for their maintenance in the City budget.

Director Nekota admitted that staffing for North Shore Beach Parks maintenance is more than 40 per cent below what it should be due to budget restraints. Not only are the restrooms poorly maintained but also the lack of staff has resulted in inadequate cleaning. Toilet paper is often not available in the restrooms. Jack and I regularly check, not my idea of a great way to spend time, and can confirm the complaints we have heard about the lack of toilet paper.

More than 50% of the tourists who visit Oahu come to the North Shore and need to use our public restrooms. They expect better than what we provide. Taxpayers deserve better.

I recently visited an island off Cancun, Mexico, and the restrooms there were all immaculately clean, always with toilet paper stocked. Hawaii is the number one tourist destination in the world. We need to have restrooms consistent with that position.

We need more residents to contact the Parks Director and support the need for our North Shore Beach Park restrooms to be brought up to at least the standard of Ali'i Beach Park. mnekota@honolulu.gov. Contacting the Mayor would also help.

Please also thank Randy when you see him. Not only has he arranged the funding for Ali'i Beach Park, he is working on getting funding for Ekuhai and Sunset Beach restrooms as well.

Animal Portraits

Artist Cheryl Ruddach has rescued, re-homed and adopted many cats and dogs over the past 28 years. "I seem to have a beacon that draws the sick, lost, injured or distressed animals to me," says Ruddach. Her pets included a three-legged dog, a black lab that rescued kittens, a Dobie/Lab with many health issues, two one-eyed cats and a courageous blind kitty—to name a few. It began with photos of dog and cat friends and evolved into pastel or oil paintings. She feels pets are part of the family and deserve a space in the family gallery. "The challenge is to capture their personality and spirit in a painting," muses Ruddach.

A Worthwhile Part of Your Family

The amount of data and information collected on the positive impact pets have on human health and well-being continues to grow and increase. Personally I have seen the positive impacts in my own life and the lives of my family members and work colleagues. Undoubtedly my grandmother's dog Sugar has helped her health and longevity – she turned 90 this past December. American soldiers returning from combat in the Middle East with PTSD have service pets to help them deal with the emotion and psychological trauma of war. These are just a few examples I personally know of clearly displaying the positive impacts of pets.

A few Decembers ago my wife was visiting the Hawaiian Humane Society for a work assignment and she fell in love with a 5 year old mixed Labrador Retriever. She texted me a picture of her new friend, who had his paws on his cage with big eyes looking up at the camera, with the caption, "All I want for Christmas..." I knew my wife had not grown up with dogs and didn't know the amount of time, work and effort it took to give a dog, especially a larger dog, the care that it needed and I was very skeptical that adopting him was the best thing for us to do. However that same evening, my very determined wife and I welcomed Buddy into our home.

He is mild tempered, easy to get along with and very affectionate (but doesn't lick everybody which we appreciate). He didn't inherit the retriever gene of his retriever ancestry, but he really loves to run. He is afraid of the water at the beach but really enjoys running on the sand and "biting" the rolling waves as they come in.

He has certainly grown on our family and extended family. He is a welcomed part of family gatherings, even at houses and amongst people who are not dog or even pet people. Although at first there was a little disagreement on whether or not he should be allowed to sleep inside the house, Buddy even won the heart of my father. As a young child growing up dogs served much more of a functional purpose, they were used to guard animals on the farm against intruders, other dogs and thieves. They were never allowed in the house and my dad tried to exercise that rule in our home with Buddy, but eventually, Buddy was allowed to stay in the house as often as he'd like.

Buddy's energy and love encourages our family to get out and walk the bike path, run on the beaches and to go for walks and drives. His protective instincts, especially of strange sounds at night outside of our house, are a demonstration of his absolute love and loyalty to us. We are so grateful for our dog and know that many of our fellow pet owners know the feelings we have for our family pet. I hope you all take the time to love the pets in your homes and if you are contemplating whether a pet is a worthwhile addition to your home, I am definitely here to tell you that they are.

Rep. Richard Fale with his rescue dog "Buddy".

Representative Lauren Matsumoto Serving You in District 45

I recently had the privilege to participate in a Welcome Reception for children visiting Hawaii from an orphanage in Japan. The four children were greeted at the Honolulu Airport by soldiers, families, and community members with an abundance of leis and outstretched arms. The story of how this annual event came to be is living proof that small acts can make a world of difference in the lives of those around us. Thank you to the service members and families at Schofield Barracks for their significant role in this proud tradition!

History of the 27th Infantry Regiment Wolfhounds & the Holy Family Home

After World War II, the Holy Family Home was established in Osaka, Japan by the Sisters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul, to house the many orphans living in Osaka. The children lived in poor conditions because of a severe lack of funds.

On Christmas Day 1949, about a dozen soldiers from the 27th Infantry Regiment accompanied a Red Cross representative to a holiday party at the Holy Family Home. The soldiers saw that the orphanage was in bad shape. On their next pay day, the soldiers took up a collection for the orphanage, raised $143, and donated it to the orphanage on New Year's morning.

When the next pay day came, the plight of the orphans was known to all the soldiers of the Regiment. Gradually, the Wolfhounds came to adopt the orphanage. Over the next six months, the soldiers of the Regiment, led by Master Sergeant Hugh O'Reilly, spent their spare time helping the Sisters repair the orphanage. The soldiers came to know the children well and the Wolfhounds began collecting funds for the Holy Family Home on a regular basis.

The 27th Infantry Regiment was one of the first American units sent to Korea. The soldiers believed that the orphanage would be in peril after their departure to Korea. Shortly before their first pay day in Korea, soldiers were asking whether they were going to keep up with the orphanage. Much to the surprise of the Sisters, the collection continued as usual. The funds they received in the years of occupation during the Korean War helped build an orphanage complex that greatly improved the lives of the children.

The last pay day in June 1951 was most memorable. The Regiment raised $10,400 for the Holy Family Home. The Sisters sent a letter to the soldiers which read, "May the love, gentleness, and care you so generously lavished on the unwanted children of Japan return to you a thousand fold, and may your countrymen always remember the great part that the Wolfhounds played in carrying the Real Spirit of America to the land of cherry blossom buds into the hearts of little almond-eyed youngsters who will miss forever their beloved Wolfhounds."

The 27th Infantry Regiment's reputation in Korea soared, and their generosity to the orphanage was the focus of much public attention on this unique relationship. In 1955, the Hollywood film "Three Stripes in the Sun" told the story of Master Sergeant Hugh O'Reilly and the relationship between the Wolfhounds and the Holy Family Home.

In 1957, the Wolfhounds invited two children from the Holy Family Home to visit the soldiers and their families stationed in Hawaii. The Wolfhounds' care and compassion for these children is a lasting tradition that continues to this day. Master Sergeant Hugh O'Reilly's wife, Yuko, continues to be at every reception and is fondly called Mom by all those involved. This event was a reminder to me how these small acts of kindness can not only change someone's life; they can heal and bring nations together.

FREEDOM IS NOT FREE

I'm a proud mother of four Eagle Scouts and I had great fun helping with the Citizenship in the Community, Citizenship in the Nation, and Citizenship in the World merit badges.

If had to do it again, I would probably encourage the scouts to mentally sign a treaty with themselves to study diligently and vote in every election for the rest of their lives. It's that important. That was one of my husband's father's pride, he never missed a election vote.

Here are some interesting data collected by Civil Beat:

In 1960, 93 percent of Hawaii's registered voters went to the polls in the general election. In 2012, only about 62 percent of registered voters bothered to show up on Election Day.

Statewide Primary Election Results

YEAR	REGISTERED	TURNOUT	PCT
2010	684,481	292,838	42.78%
2008	667,647	246,299	36.89%
2006	655,741	276,693	42.20%
2004	626,120	248,731	39.73%
2002	667,679	274,517	41.12%
2000	629,162	250,848	39.87%
1998	582,558	291,069	49.96%
1996	531,892	275,548	51.81%
1994	468,739	309,700	66.07%
1992	432,723	251,576	58.14

Please note that we're only talking about those registered to vote. I don't have data for those eligible to vote but are NOT registered to vote.

Perhaps we could start at our own community associations and neighborhood boards. In our Koʻolauloa Neighborhood Board, the voter's turn-out was 8.6% in 2012. Some associations has mandatory membership but it would be interesting to see how many actually participate and vote in elections.

It's very easier to register to vote. There are important choices to make. Carefully study the issues and vote your conscience.

First Wind Projects have Habitat Conservation Plans for Wildlife

Wind projects in Hawai'i implement Habitat Conservation Plans (HCP) designed to protect wildlife and mitigate potential impacts from operation. Habitat Conservation Plans ensure by law that appropriate measures are taken to monitor wildlife activity, as well as implement measures that results in a net conservation benefit for the species that may be affected by a wind project. Working closely with Hawai'i wildlife officials and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, First Wind LLC developed the first-ever HCP for a utility-scale project in the United States for the Kaheawa Wind Project in Maui. These HCPs ensure that any wildlife impacts are detected, reported, and fully mitigated. First Wind has dedicated teams of biologists who are tasked with monitoring wildlife activity. This work also includes using specially-trained dogs that greatly enhance the ability to detect impacted wildlife. Mitigation for species means restoration and management of an area to establish and promote breeding. Two projects that First Wind is currently working on are Makamakaole Seabird enclosures on Maui and 'Uko'a Wetland in Hale'iwa. For more information on First Wind, HCPs, or mitigation projects go to FirstWind.com or contact Carolyn Unser at cunser@firstwind.com. (Photo L-R: Solo, Emma, Murphy).

Pet Sit Stay was established in 2012 to serve the growing needs of pet parents on the North Shore. Owner Emilie has a Masters Degree in social work and worked for many years rehabilitating children with disabilities. She has left a professional career in social work to pursue her first loves - animals and the North Shore. Emilie has several years of experience house sitting and caring for a variety of pet animals. She started animal sitting for neighbors and family friends as a young child, and has experience with horses. She was also a pet sitter for Country Pet Care from 2011-2012. Since she currently does not have a pet of her own, she enjoys getting a fur fix through pet sitting. Mention this add for $10 off when booking a week of overnight pet sitting services or longer.

Do you have a freshwater aquarium, or are you looking to start your very own? Also if you are like most North Shore locals you hate making that unnecessary drive to town if you don't have to. Well Nsfreshwaters is now open for that very reason. Located in Waialua near the sugar mill and the Aloha gas station, Nsfreshwaters is open six days a week with a wide variety of freshwater fish and the products and equipment needed to make your aquarium thrive. As an added benefit Nsfreshwaters is available to install or service your aquarium so you don't have to. Rates are based on aquarium size, location or quality.

Randy Rarick examines a board he shaped over 30 years ago with his "Exclamation" logo at the Vissla Vintage Happening.

BANZAI NORTH SHORE WIRELESS

The North Shore's Randy Rarick has been awarded one of the highest honors there is. He is a 2014 Waterman Hall of Fame Inductee by the Outrigger Duke Kahanamoku Foundation.

The award is given to Hawaii's top watermen and waterwomen who have been vital to the cultural heritage of the islands. Rarick has lived by Duke Kahanamoku's creed of giving back to the community and shows great qualities that lend to the aloha spirit of the Hawaiian Islands. "Each Hall of Fame inductee celebrated has had a profound impact in perpetuating Hawaii's waterman legacy, and establishing the Hawaiian Islands as the focal point in the ocean-sports universe," The Outrigger Duke Kahanamoku Foundation.

Rarick is known for his organization of professional surfing but not too many people know about his surfing as a pro himself. He is an experienced world traveler and a surfboard maker and has been executive director of the Triple Crown of Surfing from its 1983 inception. After moving to Hawaii at age 5 Rarick was a Jr. Champion in 1967 under the wing of Legend surer Rabbit Kakai. He worked for Surf Line Hawaii, Dewey Weber Surfboards and Lightning Bolt back in the day starting out as a surfboard repair person and later shaping under the Exclamation Logo! He has continued to represent surfing all around the world and has traveled to over 60 countries spreading that surfing aloha as many before him. Rarick also produced and curated the Hawaiian Islands Vintage Surf Auction; the 2011 auction, held at Blaisdell Center in Honolulu and recently put together the Vissla Vintage Happening at South Shore Surf Shop. This has been a passion of him for some time again working at the preservation of the History of Surfing.

The 2014 Hawai'i Waterman Hall of Fame dinner August 21st at the Outrigger Canoe Club is a big deal and is held in conjunction with the Outrigger Duke's Oceanfest a ten day water sports festival dedicated to Duke Kahanamoku, Hawaii's best ever athlete! The other inductees include the North Shore's Mark Cunningham for bodysurfing and lifesaving. Cunningham worked as a lifeguard for 29 years with the City and County and has won numerous bodysurfing competitions over the years, usually the one to beat! Over 6 feet tall (6'4") he commands a room and has represented Hawaii around the world as one of the best ever water athletes. In his career he has saved over 100 people and is know for being one of the best at Ehukai Beach Park, Pipeline. He loves being in the ocean, not on it. It seemed more natural to him, more down to earth so he immersed himself into Bodysurfing and has been in several movies over the years representing the sport. He has recently been working with the Defend Oahu Coalition, with "Keep the Country Country" as their battle cry. The main idea to keep the North Shore rural. He continues to save and protect our community. The North Shore should be proud of our athletes who continue to represent surfing and the North Shore and the miracle that it is! Aloha!

The Duke's Oceanfest is coming up fast. The sports festival is ten days from August 16-24 and celebrates Duke Kahanamoku's legacy. Kahanamoku was so many things to Hawai'i. He was pure Hawaiian and a direct descendant of the Paoas of the legendary Vikings of the Sunrise who settled the Hawaiian Islands. The name was famous in the Pacific as the most remarkable navigators the world has seen. He lived through a time that Hawai'i was changing rapidly, before and after statehood. He represented Hawai'i and won Gold at the Olympics in 1912 and broke all kinds of records in swimming there and afterwards. He also brought surfing to the world and was an expert surfboard maker, water polo player, sailor, bodysurfer and more. Above all he was know for his spirit, when he spoke the world stopped and listened. People always talk about his hands dwarfing theirs at every hand shake. Duke died at 77 years of age in 1968, after collapsing at Waikiki Surf Club. The OceanFest remembers his smile, his love of people and his giving nature with their festival of surf and sports August 16 and ending on his birthday August 24th.

Hope to see you there! Aloha to you!

3rd of 101 Perfect Waves International Murals by Hilton Alves to Take Place in Mauiby Jessica dos Santos

Artist Hilton Alves will paint mural number three of his 101 Perfect Wave International Murals in Wailuku, Maui. The mural, planned in partnership with the non-profit Made in Hope, will be painted from the 14th to the 16th of August, in Wailuku. Each of the 101 murals will depict perfect waves from around the world and the 3rd will be based on the magic and beauty of Honolua Bay.

Made in Hope works to eliminate the exploitation of and violence against women and children. Its hope is to change the culture that cultivates violence by supporting preventative and restorative efforts that foster educational and sustainable economic opportunities for at-risk communities both in Hawaii and around the world.

This mural is part of a project, created in 2013, called 101 Perfect Waves International Mural Project. As an artist and a surfer, Hilton wants to share the inspiration that comes from the sea and waves with cities and countries around the world. His aim in painting huge murals and planning activities with local communities is to inspire people to have a greater relationship with art and to take part in environmental preservation.

The project includes a world record mural depicting the famous Pipeline wave, which was completed in October 2013. This mural is the largest wave mural in the world and located in Honolulu on the island of Oahu, Hawaii. To paint this huge wall of 5 floors high and 100 meters wide, the artist used about 150 gallons of paint and it took only five days to complete.

The second mural was painted in January this year at Ibirapuera Park in Sao Paulo and Hilton is happy to be back to focus his art on the Hawaiian Islands and, this time, the beautiful island of Maui. In partnership with Made in Hope, Hilton will invite school kids and community members to paint a mini-mural with him on August 15th while he showcases come of this painting techniques.

To include your city and learn more about the 101 Perfect Waves International Mural Project, visit the official website of the artist, www.theartofhilton.com

"A Dog's Purpose" (from a 6-year-old)

(Author Unknown)

Being a veterinarian, I had been called to examine a ten-year-old Irish Wolfhound named Belker. The dog's owners, Ron, his wife Lisa, and their little boy Shane, were all very attached to Belker, and they were hoping for a miracle.

I examined Belker and found he was dying of cancer. I told the family we couldn't do anything for Belker, and offered to perform the euthanasia procedure for the old dog in their home.

As we made arrangements, Ron and Lisa told me they thought it would be good for six-year-old Shane to observe the procedure. They felt as though Shane might learn something from the experience.

The next day, I felt the familiar catch in my throat as Belker's family surrounded him. Shane seemed so calm, petting the old dog for the last time, that I wondered if he understood what was going on. Within a few minutes, Belker slipped peacefully away.

The little boy seemed to accept Belker's transition without any difficulty or confusion. We sat together for a while after Belker's Death, wondering aloud about the sad fact that animal lives are shorter than human lives. Shane, who had been listening quietly, piped up, "I know why."

Startled, we all turned to him. What came out of his mouth next stunned me. I'd never heard a more comforting explanation. It has changed the way I try and live.

He said, "People are born so that they can learn how to live a good life—like loving everybody all the time and being nice, right?" The six-year-old continued, "Well, dogs already know how to do that, so they don't have to stay as long."

Remember, if a dog was the teacher you would learn things like:

- When loved ones come home, always run to greet them.
- Never pass up the opportunity to go for a joyride.
- Allow the experience of fresh air and the wind in your face to be pure Ecstasy.
- Take naps.
- Stretch before rising.
- Run, romp, and play daily.
- Thrive on attention and let people touch you.
- Avoid biting when a simple growl will do.
- On warm days, stop to lie on your back on the grass.
- On hot days, drink lots of water and lie under a shady tree.
- When you're happy, dance around and wag your entire body.
- Delight in the simple joy of a long walk.
- Be loyal.
- Never pretend to be something you're not.
- If what you want lies buried, dig until you find it.
- When someone is having a bad day, be silent, sit close by, and nuzzle them gently.
