NOTICE TO INTERESTED PARTIES IS HEREBY GIVEN that three human burials were discovered by Cultural Surveys Hawai'i, Inc. The finds were identified during utility trenching related to the Board of Water Supply's Kamehameha Highway Sunset Beach Water Systems Improvements Project, Pūpūkea Ahupua'a, Koʻolauloa District, Island of Oʻahu, TMK: [1] 5-9-003, 004, and 008-011:Kamehameha Highway Right-of-Way. The human remains were discovered within the makai (northwest) side of the Kamehameha Highway right-of-way, north of Shark's Cove, and were included within State Inventory of Historic Places (SIHP) # 50-80-01-7196, a culturally enriched A horizon with human interments.

The landowner is the City and County of Honolulu. The applicant is Board of Water Supply (BWS). Background research indicates that during the Mahele the entire Pūpūkea Ahupua'a was awarded to Kamehameha III. Additionally, of the 19 Kuleana (maka'ainana) Land Commission Awards (LCA) awarded within Pūpūkea, none are located within or in the immediate vicinity of the current project area.

Following the procedures of Hawai'i Revised Statutes (HRS) Chapter 6E-43, and Hawai'i Administrative Rules (HAR) Chapter 13-300, the burial finds were determined by the State Historic Preservation Division (SHPD) to be over 50 years old. Based on the context of the burial finds, they are believed most likely to be Native Hawaiian. The burial finds, encountered during archaeological monitoring, have been disinterred and temporarily curated with the Board of Water Supply. The burial finds are designated as inadvertent, encountered during archaeological monitoring, and are therefore under the jurisdiction of SHPD per HAR Chapter 13-13-300; however, the BWS and SHPD would like to work with any descendants that come forward.

SHPD is requesting persons having any knowledge of the identity or history of these human skeletal remains to immediately contact the SHPD Culture and History Branch, Ms. Regina Hilo, at 555 Kākuhihewa Building, 601 Kamōkila Boulevard, Kapolei, Hawaiʻi 96707 [email: regina.hilo@hawaii.gov; Tel. (808) 692-8026; Fax (808) 692-8020]. All interested parties shall respond within thirty (30) days of this notice and file descendancy claim forms and/or provide information to the SHPD adequately demonstrating lineal descent from this designated burial or cultural descent from ancestors buried in the same ahupua 'a or district.

Happy New Year

As we embark on a new year, the Honolulu City Council will soon begin working on a new executive and capital budget for fiscal year 2019. The City Council will have to review the Mayor's bills and work together to address the many issues that our districts and the City and County of Honolulu face in allocating our limited financial resources.

The budgets for the City and County of Honolulu covers the various departments in the Executive Branch and the work that they do such as road and park maintenance to homelessness and emergency services.

For our district, the replacement of the Waialua District Park lights, refurbishment of the Haleiwa Surf Center, and the implementation of the Haleiwa Sidewalk Project continue to be priorities.

I have introduced Resolution 18-005 requesting the City Administration to expedite the replacement or restoration of the field and pool lights/lighting systems at Waialua District Park. In the Executive Capital Budget for Fiscal Year 2017 I added an appropriation of $3,000,000 for Waialua District Park lighting improvements. Then for the 2018 Executive Capital Budget I also included an additional appropriation of $4,880,000 for Waialua District Park lighting improvements (Project No. 2017110).

To date, none of the monies that have been appropriated in Fiscal Years 2017 and 2018 have been expended by the City Administration for the lights/lighting systems at Waialua District Park. The current situation at Waialua District Park is dire and expediting the replacement or restoration of the lights/lighting systems is necessary to ensure that the public is able to use Waialua District Park during all hours that the park is open to the public.

I look forward to working with you to address the needs of our community. Wishing you and your families a happy, healthy and prosperous new year.

Assorted Updates

The 2018 Legislative Session opens on Wednesday, January 17, 2018 and is scheduled to conclude on the first Thursday in May. In preparation for the session, we have been researching and considering a diverse list of issues, among which we hope to increase protections of agricultural lands, improve the judicial process for child welfare cases, explore alternative uses for recycled glass, and better manage coastal erosion protocols.

Of course, hardly a week goes by without a call from someone who is stuck in the traffic at Laniakea. The Department of Transportation continues to drag their feet, refusing to either complete the alternatives study or cancel it. Their standard reply that they are studying the issue rings hollow. Since last year, the DOT has publicly pushed back hard against any new projects, choosing instead to focus on system maintenance and preservation.

The homeless encampment at Waialee has been a major concern, along with ongoing concerns about other, less aggressive homeless camps around the district. I recently met with Scott Morishige, the Governor's homeless coordinator, for an update on state efforts to address this crisis. State efforts focused originally in Honolulu and have gradually expanded to other parts of Oahu. It is hoped that state outreach will be expanding to Wahiawa and the North Shore within the next few months.

The annual Point in Time Count will occur in the last week of January. Last year, Alea Bridge successfully organized the census of homelessness in Central and North Oahu. This count verified what everyone already knew, but what had yet to be properly quantified: there are a great many homeless in our community. These data are important for future funding of supportive services and efforts to solve this vexing problem. New volunteers can find more information and register to help at PartnerIn-CareOahu.org.

The Department of Health just released a report that reveals high levels of ground and near shore water contamination from cesspools. Waialua is one of the identified hot spots. We have 88,000 cesspools in Hawaii, most of which are in rural regions like ours, and all of which will have to be closed by 2050. This will be a challenging task; few people can afford to upgrade their individual wastewater system. There will need to be great collaboration between the state, counties and homeowners to devise a workable plan of action to meet the requirements of the law to replace cesspools within 32 years.

Along with Representatives Quinlan, Matsumoto, and Keohokalole, I will be hosting a series of Town Hall meetings to discuss bills that are moving this year, offer updates on district issues, and to listen to resident concerns and ideas. The meetings begin at 6:30 p.m. at Ahuimanu Elementary School on January 30, Waialua Elementary School on January 31, and Hauula Elementary on February 1. Please come out and join us.

Aloha Friends, Family, and Neighbors!

As we head toward the 2018 Legislative Session opening January 17, the Capitol is again buzzing with excitement! Legislators and staff are now preparing for the flurry of activity ahead as we work together on the issues that matter most in our state. Your interests are, as always, top of mind. Constituent input on the recent 2018 Legislative Survey helps me know your main concerns, which continue to guide my legislative efforts. Housing access and affordability continue to lead the list of concerns for our district, and across Oahu. Heading into the next few months, I am also considering matters uniquely affecting District 45, such as the cost of living, opiate prescription use and awareness, computer science in our schools, and educational opportunities for females in science and technology.

If you'd like to be fully connected to the Capitol happenings throughout session, go to the Hawaii State Legislature website (Capitol.Hawaii.Gov) to create an account. You can sign up to automatically receive selected updates or even actively participate by submitting testimony. If you have questions or need assistance, feel free to give my office a call!

This Session, our office comprises Office Manager Mark Clemente and Legislative Aides Angela Henderson, Jessica Stenz, and Geno Tamayo as staff; and Travis Afuso, our high school intern. We are still looking to add two high school or college interns to the office. College candidates should have an interest in gaining exposure to the legislative process, a desire to work with constituents, and be eager to provide general office support. Waialua High School candidates have the option to be involved both at the capitol as well as directly in the community. Interested in joining our team, or know someone who would be a good fit? You can find information and apply online at RepMatsumoto.com/information/internships. We'd love to have excellent team members on board!

Join us for a Town Hall meeting on January 31st at the Waialua Elementary School Cafeteria (67-020 Waialua Beach Road), where your area legislators, Senator Gil Riviere, Representative Sean Quinlan, and I will be discussing topics that have been raised by the community as well as the legislature. Your input is truly valued, so please join us!

Additionally, we have been working hard this past year to update our website RepMatsumoto.com! We will be launching the new site at the end of January. Our next article will highlight all of the new features of the site geared to better serve you!

As always, please feel free to contact me if you have questions or concerns about any happenings in our community. Call me at (808) 586-9490, email RepMatsumoto@capitol.hawaii.gov, or visit RepMatsumoto.com.

To a Happy Life!

2018 is here and I would like to wish you much happiness. What does happiness mean? To me, it is a state of wellbeing and satisfaction with the way your life is progressing. This is a process that takes time. The following are my suggestions for achieving happiness.

First, you need a purpose in life that gives meaning to your life and utilizes your special talent, whether it's being musically gifted, being good with people or having a talent for organization and management.

Second, give of yourself to others. In giving, we receive the gift of joy. Give of yourself by listening to others in their time of need. Volunteer in community projects. Be a Big Brother or Big Sister. Donate to a charitable organization you believe in.

Third, find joy in your life. Sometimes, we forget to slow down and appreciate the beauty around us. Make time to do something fun with family and friends. Lighten up and laugh more. If something bad happens (It always does!), deal with it. Pick yourself up and move on. Stressing about it never helps. It just makes you sick.

Make rules for yourself like, "Once a week I will do something fun. "Living a good life sometimes requires discipline.

Fourth, find a way to do something you've always wanted to do. This may take time and/or money like taking a trip somewhere. For me, when I returned to Hawaii in 2000, I bought a ukelele which sat in my closet for 17 years. I finally have some time to take lessons and to practice and am finally playing my uke. Initially, my instructor had to use oil to loosen up my rusty keys.

Fifth, keep physically and mentally fit. Eat healthy, get enough sleep/rest and stimulate your brain. If you're not healthy, it is a challenge to implement my suggestions for achieving happiness. Have a happy life!

The Wondrous Kalo Plant

Duke Morgan, Horticulturist, Waimea Valley
On Saturday, January 27th Waimea Valley will host a free workshop "Kalo Basics" from 9 a.m. – noon. The workshop will be covering basic kalo cultivation, pests and disease, as well as kalo variety identification. For more information visit www.waimeavalley.net

"Taro" refers to a number of edible aroids in the plant family Araceae, within the four genera of Colocasia, Alocasia, Cyrtosperma, and Xanthosoma. When we talk about Hawaiian taro or kalo we are talking about the genera Colocasia, which many varieties of kalo arise. Taro is one of the oldest cultivated crops in the world. Today, taro is still consumed widely but on a much smaller scale due to the industrial rise and consumption of wheat, rice, corn and potato.

Kalo was the staff of life for the Hawaiian culture and was revered as the "older brother" of the first Hawaiian people. Among other starches that were consumed kalo was king; from table taro to baby food kalo was eaten on a daily basis. A key starchy staple in Hawai'i, the kalo plant is versatile not only in the way that it was used but in the way that it is able to be grown. From the uplands to near the sea, kalo was grown on a large scale for everyday use. One thing that I hear a lot from interested gardeners is "I would grow kalo, but I don't have any streams or running water near my place," this is a common misconception that kalo can only be grown in a wet culture setting.

In ancient times, flowing water was sacred and was mostly utilized for drinking water, cleanliness, and kalo production. The cultivation of kalo was typically done in and near streams, and the amount of 'ai (food) and the health of the ahupua'a (land division) persisted within these wai (water). As the budding populations grew and flourished and the lush flowing waters were farmed people needed to utilize more arid, non-flooded areas. Horticultural skills developed to continue growing food in these non-flooded areas or mala (garden), and non-flooded culture remains the primary method of kalo production throughout the Pacific today. A mala style garden makes the most sense for a backyard kalo grower, this type of garden allows you to grow kalo on a small scale and also utilize modern technologies such as simple soil preparation, fertilizer application, drip irrigation with timers, and integrated pest management.

Hawaii's volcanic islands have a more diverse soil series than most places in the world, so it is hard to say that there is a right way to grow kalo in any one spot. However, a very basic framework for starting a mala is:

Plan your garden site: Choose a site that receives sunlight throughout the day. Aim for a location with good air flow (not surrounded by large trees and bushes). Allow simple access to the garden as well as a water source. Soil tests are not absolutely crucial, but will give you a good idea of what is there and what can be improved. A basic soil sample can be processed at the University of Hawaii Soils Lab, by visiting this link: https://www.ctahr.hawaii.edu/oc/freepubs/pdf/SCM-9.pdf

Cultivate the area: Use a tiller or an o'o (digging stick) to prepare a 6-inch deep bed. Remove all weeds, add a general organic or inorganic fertilizer, (10-10-10, fish bone meal, bone meal, chicken manure etc.) add compost (well broken down, mature), and water in and let it sit for a couple days before planting. Take notice of any pests you encounter while watering and tending your garden (white fly, mealy bug, aphids, etc.) and control accordingly (typically a soapy water solution of 10 parts water: 1 part soap) will do the trick. In an ideal situation you will minimize the build-up of pests and disease by rotating your kalo through several garden plots.

Find a source of water: If you live in an area that will provide around 80-100 inches of rainfall per year your crop will have sufficient water. If you are gardening outside of this annual rainfall, hand watering or an automated drip-irrigation system will be necessary in keeping your crop hydrated. Hand watering serves as a great opportunity to be amongst the plants and keep your eyes on taro diseases, pests, and nutrient deficiencies.

Identify the best varieties of kalo for your area: Waimea Valley on Oahu's North Shore is one place that provides expertise in gardening Hawaiian and non-Hawaiian taro varieties and once a year serves as a community distribution center for kalo huli. Kupunakalo.com also provides a great resource for all around kalo culture and variety selection.

Best practices

Gardening is hard work. Keeping yourself safe and able to work the next day is crucial for long term food production and quality of life. Practice safe gardening by keeping your body weight centered over your feet (not bending over while lifting or pulling), staying hydrated, and working only within your means. Your only goal in the garden is to be in the garden again the next day.

Resources

Many passionate people grow kalo on a small and large scale. Many horticulturists and gardeners have paved the way for us. Look to these "knowledge banks." If you do not have access to one of these wonderful people or places, there are also some very informative books and publications available:

- College of Tropical Agriculture and Human Resources, University of Hawaii. Taro Mauka to Makai: A Taro Production Guide and Business Guide for Hawai'i Growers, 2008. UH-CTAHR.
- E.S. Handy, E.G. Handy, M.K. Pukui. Native Planters in Old Hawaii: Their Life, Lore, and Environment, Bernice P. Bishop Museum Bulletin 233. 1991. Bishop Museum Press

We do not inherit the earth from our ancestors; we are borrowing it from our children.

CONGRATULATIONS JOHN JOHN!

Image: WSL/Freesurf/Heff

World Surf League Hawaii is honored to congratulate North Shore's very own, John John Florence, on becoming the 2017 World Champion!

John backed up his 2016 world title during this year's Billabong Pipe Masters and became the next Hawaii athlete to accomplish back-to-back Championship victories after Andy Irons paved the way in 2002, '03 and '04. John enthralled fans after he absolutely dominated massive Margaret River with his signature casual style back in April, and set an unstoppable precedence on the CT when he claimed four 3rd place finishes (Gold Coast, Bells Beach, Trestles and France) and a 2nd place to Jeremy Flores at Pipe for the year-ending finale.

On behalf of his hometown, the North Shore wishes John the best of luck as he launches into the next competitive season this March in Australia. Let's bring home a threepeat title to Hawaii!

MCGILL BRINGS JUNIOR WORLD TITLE HOME TO NORTH SHORE

Finn McGill, 17, from the North Shore of Oahu. Pupukea, earned the 2017 World Junior Champion title at Bombo Beach in Australia. McGill managed to rise above an ankle injury to claim the coveted 2017 title. Surfing against a blisteringly Japanese competitor, Joh Azuchi, McGill linked together a chain of giant backside turns in the final heat, which saw Azuchi requiring a combination of two-scores. The surfer from Japan is proof that Japan has a great opportunity to win Gold at the upcoming Olympics in 2020 in their own backyard! McGill joins the list of current Hawaiian World Champions, John John Florence, Paige Alms and Honolua Blomfield! Tahiti's Vahine Fierro won the Women's Junior World Title and Maui's Summer Macedo placed second. For more on the WSL results go to worldsurfleague.com.

OLYMPIC SURFING PARTICIPATION DECIDED

The International Surfing Association (ISA) announced an agreement with the World Surf League (WSL) on the qualification principles for surfing in the Olympic Games in Tokyo 2020, ensuring the participation of the world's best surfers from the WSL Championship Tour (CT) as well as promoting universal opportunities for surfers around the world. In principle, the agreement will see up to 18 of the 40 places at the Games reserved for WSL Championship Tour (CT) surfers (10 men and eight women), with the remaining 22 places determined at the 2019 and 2020 ISA World Surfing Games, the 2019 Pan American Games in Lima, and a single slot (each for men and women) for the host nation (Japan). With the support of the WSL, the ISA eligibility rules for Olympic participation will require surfers to make themselves available for their national teams to compete in the ISA World Surfing Games in 2019 and 2020 and, if selected by their National Federation, to participate. The final decision on the complete process is subject to the approval of the Executive Board of the International Olympic Committee (IOC) next month. Surfing was confirmed as an Olympic sport for Tokyo 2020 in August of 2016 after decades of campaigning by the ISA for the global development of surfing. Surfing will also be included in the 2019 Pan American Games in Lima.

CALIFORNIAN WINS TRIPLE CROWN FOR FIRST TIME

Freshly qualified for the 2018 CT, Griffin Colapinto (USA), 19, added to his thriving season by taking the 35th Annual Vans Triple Crown of Surfing honor and became the first Californian to ever win the coveted surfing series. Colapinto captured a runner up finish at the first Vans Triple Crown jewel, the Hawaiian Pro at Haleiwa Ali'i Beach Park, then went on to final at the second event, the Vans World Cup at Sunset Beach, for a commanding lead on the series. Colapinto was awarded a beautiful carved surfboard by North Shore artist Ruben Aira Jr. who created the carving tools and techniques that are one of a kind. You can see his work at his web site rubenairajr.com!

HIO EVENT FEATURED GREAT SURF

This year's Hurley International Open had some of the best waves ever for the event. Yes finally the waves and conditions on the North Shore improved after a tough November and December! Surf ranged from 4 to 8 feet for the competition and conditions were ideal for the four day event that featured many of our Japanese friends and our hottest amateur surfers. A big congrats to Jasmine Crawford, Honolulu Blomfield, Robert Snelling, Doug Deal and more. You can

Dear North Shore News and Community;

On behalf of the Waialua High School Culinary Arts program, we thank you for your support. Your generous contribution made it possible for our students to participate in the "Future of Food Summit" held in Milan, Italy.

On this immersive tour, our students explored the urban culinary landscapes of London, Paris, Rome and Florence and took cooking classes along the way experiencing the multiculturalism of food. They learned how to make curry in London, croissants in Paris and taste tested olive oils, pizza and the best of Italian food and how Italy is returning to its culinary roots through a "slo-food" movement emphasizing locally sourced ingredients and a simpler approach to food.

These experiences were then utilized as our students ended their tour in a three day student leader-ship summit. They teamed up with students from around the world as they engaged in design thinking to help solve issues related to food instabilities and to answer the question with a solution "how do you feed everyone in a community." At the Summit in Milan, world-renowned speakers and experts on the Future of Food lead discussions on food's ability to connect people as they looked for solutions to help feed our growing world.

This educational tour went through London, Paris, Rome and Florence and culminated in a 2-day leadership summit. Along the way, students took cooking classes, shopped in the local markets and examined what food means to culture and its ability to link us to our past, present as well as our role in the future of food. As our students traveled across Europe they gained valuable insight into how food connects plate, people, politics and culture. As regions and landscapes changed on their journey, so did their approach to food as they took cooking classes and tasted their way through a variety of traditions and practices. Please view the youtube link to our trip to enjoy and experience what you made possible for our students.

 $https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=TM_KpmOvm34$

Thank you again for you generosity.

Sincerely, Marsha Taylor Culinary Arts Program
