NSOC Adopts Torch Ginger Alley – Waimea Valley

It has been said that The Outdoor Circle was inspired during a vacation in France, in 1911. Cherrilla Lowrey, Mrs. Henry Waterhouse and her daughter Elnora

Sturdeon marveled at the splendor of the Gardens of Versailles. They wanted Hawaii to be a place of beauty and in 1912 the women started The Outdoor Circle. In the same vein, today the women of the North Shore branch of The Outdoor Circle have adopted a garden in one of the most beautiful and beloved valleys on Oahu.

NSOC Adopts Torch Ginger Alley - Waimea Valley

Last spring a representative from Waimea Valley spoke at the NSOC bi-annual membership meeting about an opportunity to adopt a garden in the valley. The program has been well received by other community minded garden and plant enthusiasts who come out to volunteer at different times and at different gardens within the valley.

NSOC has had a special relationship with Waimea Valley since its inception in 1987 and held its first board and membership meeting under the green tent top meeting area that is now Waimea Pavilion. The group held many plant sales side by side with the arboretum over the years as well as hosted an annual Ke Ala Pupukea Bike Path fundraiser for 16 years—The Harvest Moon Dance.

The group considers it a privilege to work in the garden once a month among friends old and new who support the 106-year-old Outdoor Circle motto: To help to Keep Hawaii Clean, Green, and Beautiful!

You too can volunteer at Waimea Valley by becoming a member of NSOC or by contacting Waimea Valley Volunteer Coordinator Melani Spielman at MSpielman@waimeavalley.net ALOHA

A recent column in our largest newspaper placed blame on the City Council for the not resolving monster homes problem in our neighborhoods. That couldn't be more wrong.

For the record, the City Council is not the problem. Arguably, we're the only ones trying to put more tools in the hands of enforcement agencies and more bite into our laws.

Even if the City Council passes new bills, it is not the enforcement agency. That falls to the City Administration. But since the responsible agencies appear apprehensive about enforcing current laws, the Council is stepping up and taking the initiative through Bills 50, 53 and 60.

- Bill 50 creates additional penalties for dwellings that don't comply with the Council's recently passed moratorium on building permits for large detached structures in residential districts.
- Bill 53, CD1 amends the City Building Code to strengthen enforcement provisions for structures built or altered without proper permits.
- Bill 60 explicitly makes disobeying a stop work order due to a violation punishable by a fine up to $2,000 or by imprisonment for up to a year or both.

But my real point to the author of the column is this: The ability to force compliance and severely punish violators, including ordering the demolition of illegally built units, already exists in current ordinance. It requires only that the Department of Planning & Permitting and the Corporation Counsel jointly elevate enforcement of these laws to the highest levels.

The Council would be largely supportive if these agencies reordered their departmental priorities and personnel to aggressively identify and prosecute these scofflaws in our neighborhoods.

In my estimation, if the City Administration came forward with some truly robust proposals of its own, it would find an audience at the Honolulu City Council.

Aloha North Shore Community!

The Chamber has compiled a survey to help determine how the Chamber can best serve the membership and the community. If you haven't yet taken the survey, please take the time to give us your best thoughts, in the link here: <https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/TV336C8>

You can also find this link on our homepage at www.gonorthshore.org.

After September 30th, the survey is going to be open to the community members as a whole. Members of the community will have an opportunity to express their views so that we have the broadest possible expression of the community's viewpoint. Our goal is that government agencies can be confident in knowing what it is that's important to the North Shore community at large and will act accordingly.

Your detailed input allows us to be more effective advocates for the North Shore!

Aloha Friends and Neighbors!

Mahalo to those of you who have RSVP'd for our Capitol Talk & Tour! If you still want to attend it's not too late! Everyone is invited to join us on Wednesday, October 10th, to our Capitol Talk & Tour from 10 am - 12 pm. To learn more about the event and to RSVP, please visit RepMatsumoto.com and click on "Capitol Talk & Tour." At this event, I will be sharing history and interesting facts about our state capitol, discussing how you can get involved in our legislative process, and end the day with light refreshments and a talk story session. The Capitol Talk & Tour event is for all ages and during fall break, so please feel free to bring your keiki and kupuna! On my website, you'll find information about parking locations around the capitol district.

Additionally, there has been growing concern regarding the illegal dumping in our community. The benefits of regular bulky item pickup are huge for our neighborhoods, resulting in Oahu's streets and sidewalks being clutter-free and safe, and we believe this will significantly reduce illegal dumping. This, however, is only possible if everyone contributes their fair share of cooperation, as everyone must responsibly adhere to the schedule by placing items at the curb only on designated days. It is illegal to place items at the curb on any days other than the specified collection day or in area(s) other than that fronting your property; our refuse and recyclables are collected curbside weekly, while bulky items are collected monthly. For our sector in Waialua, bulky item pickup is on the 2nd Wednesday of every month. If the schedule is not convenient for you, please visit your nearest dump and/or drop-off center, or contact organizations such as Goodwill and Salvation Army if the items are still in good, usable condition. Please take the time to know the schedules and dispose of items properly by visiting the website the Department of Environmental Services at Opala.org.

If you witness someone illegally dumping items on your property, call 911 immediately and file a police report. This is our home, our island, our responsibility to care for its health and beauty. The City provides for free collection of bulky items, such as furniture, appliances, and mattresses.

Another issue that has been raised is the increase of abandoned/derelict vehicles on our public roadways. A vehicle is deemed abandoned if it is unlawfully parked on a public highway or if it is left unattended on the public and private property, for more than a day or 24 hours. If you see an issue that needs to be addressed, report it to my office, your city council member, or the police with the specifics of your report including exact location of the vehicle and possible landmarks. In addition to the location of the vehicle, please include the following information:

- Make, model, and color of the vehicle
- License plate number
- Describe whether the vehicle is still complete or already junked. (no wheels and other parts)
- The number of days, weeks or months it has been in the vicinity.

The police will go to the place of the abandoned vehicle and will put a notice to the owner to move the vehicle within a day. If the owner removes it, there will be no charges, and there will be no report. If the vehicle remains unmoved within the next 24 hours, however, it will be considered abandoned, and the Abandoned Vehicle Coordinator can contact the towing companies to remove the car. You may also report an abandoned or derelict vehicle on our website by clicking on the "Report an Issue" button on RepMatsumoto.com, and we'll handle the reporting for you!

Let's continue to work together for our community! As always, please feel free to contact me if you have questions or concerns about any happenings in our community. Call me at (808) 586-9490, email RepMatsumoto@Capitol.Hawaii.Gov, or visit RepMatsumoto.com.

North Shore Chamber of Commerce News

"Seafood & A Sunset" Fundraiser Hosted by Malama Loko Ea Foundation

"Seafood & A Sunset" is a fundraiser hosted by Malama Loko Ea Foundation from 4:30-8:00pm on Sept. 29 on the private grounds of Pua'ena Point Beach and the historic Haleiwa Airstrip. The event will include great food, entertainment, and a silent auction. Individual tickets are $125 each, and may be obtained by emailing Rowena@lokoea.org or Doreen@lokoea.org. Sponsorships are still available for a $3,500 or $5,000 table. Silent auction items are still being accepted. The event website is: lokoea-fundraiser.weebly.com

After more than nine years of volunteer workdays, fundraisers, and community and corporate financial support, fully restoring the Loko Ea fishpond is coming closer to reality. All proceeds from Seafood & A Sunset will go directly toward the organization's capital campaign to purchase specialty dredge equipment necessary for the final step toward bringing Loko Ea back to the healthy ecosystem it once was. The foundation has identified the specific equipment for purchase and has raised $92,000 so far toward the $250,000 required. The goal is to purchase the dredge equipment by Nov. 1.

According to Executive Director Rae DeCoito, "This will be the first machine of its kind in this state and will enable Loko Ea to be the first fishpond to be dredged and fully functional."

Many people don't know what's behind the gate leading to Loko Ea, located behind Haleiwa Beach House. However, if you venture onto the property, says DeCoito, "Loko Ea speaks for itself. She's considered the jewel of the North Shore. It's an amazing healing place."

The mission of Malama Loko Ea Foundation is "to perpetuate the native Hawaiian culture through education, land stewardship, and community building, while sustainably restoring our precious natural resources." Toward this end, the educational programs and once-a-month volunteer workdays merge native Hawaiian traditional and contemporary practices. The foundation hosts 150 educational field trips annually, and that number is growing. The goal of the community workdays is to encourage community volunteers and students to reconnect with the land, and to one another through education and stewardship.

Anyone interested in helping to restore Loko Ea is welcome to participate in the monthly workdays held on the third Saturday beginning with 8:45 am registration and orientation. Volunteers under 12 must be accompanied by an adult. All minors are required to have signed parental consent. Participants should bring: clothes that can get wet and muddy; a hat or visor; sunscreen and sunglasses; closed toe shoes; a refillable water bottle; and a reusable mess kit including plate and fork. Lunch is provided. Contact 808-637-3232 for more information.

Shaping Safe Hunters

By Victoria Williams

What do you associate with hunting? Responsibility? Safety protocol? Respect for your surroundings? After taking DLNR's Hunter Education Course you will. Volunteer instructors Jerry, Arlene, and Manny make the two-day class relatable and enjoyable through their witty teaching style. Their passion to produce safe, responsible hunters culminates in the Hunter's Code of Ethics, the difference between legality and morality in the field, and respect. Our Hawaiian eco-system is interconnected with our 'aina and people, and it is important to understand the hunter's role in it. As a student we learn all of these things, and that hunting is a privilege. I strongly suggest every Hawai'i resident to take this course.

Waialua Library Featured in Honolulu Magazine

Did you know that last year, nearly 6 million books circulated among more than 946,000 registered Hawaii library cardholders, and librarians answered nearly 1.3 million questions? As the website says, "You have questions. We have answers. We're librarians. (It's what we do.)"

This month, Honolulu Magazine ran a wonderful piece on the Hawaii Public Library System and featured our own Waialua Library. Here's an excerpt:

Tim Littlejohn has been the Waialua Librarian for 21 years. Built in 1927 to serve the plantation community, the 3,000-square foot library is the smallest on Oahu and the second oldest on the island. Littlejohn bursts with pride for his patrons, staff and community partners. "We have the best community," he says. He helps farmers research soil contamination, beachcombers track the history of a glass ball and nurtures a growing interest in genealogy...

In 1997, the Public Library Association named Waialua Library the "Best Small/Rural Library in America."

Waialua children's librarian Holly Braffet draws a packed house of more than 50 at Saturday storytime at Waialua, with parents and grandparents coming along. "People are rediscovering the value of books," says Braffet and the library offers book clubs, writing clubs and an encouraging place to drop by...

Events can turn out great for more than the kids, Littlejohn recalls two single parents who met through Saturday storytime. He says the man eventually asked him to help propose by showing the woman a book where the man tore out the pages to hide the ring. Littlejohn agreed to help, she said yes and the two married. But Littlejohn confesses that, in true librarian fashion, he couldn't help asking the man: "Why are the pages missing?"

If you'd like to enjoy the entire article, you can read it for free at: <http://www.honolulumagazine.com/Honolulu-Magazine/August-2018/Check-It-Out-Hawaii-Public-Libraries/>

Laniakea Beach Traffic : With UH Engineer Professor Panos Prevedouros

By Choon James

Special mahalo to UH Professor Panos Prevedouros and three UH students for dialogue on September 8, 2018 at the Sunset Beach School Cafeteria.

Traffic congestion is worsening on this 2-lane Kamehameha Highway. The tourism count reached 9.4 million last year and the Hawaii Tourism Authority is campaigning for more, with no thought for any "carrying capacity" threshold or the quality of life for local residents.

Frustrated residents have seen concierge and activity desks in Waikiki telling the tourists attractions that are actually off limits to tour companies, like Laniakea Beach.

While all recognized that solutions were not immediate, it was refreshing to have candid discussions about what could work and what could not from an experienced civil engineer like Prof Panos.

State Representative Sean Quinlan also provided some background history to the various ongoing efforts and suggestions with State entities.

Laura Figueroa and Antya Miller shared their viewpoints on re-installing the cement aprons as part of the solutions.

Lulu Esquivel asked about "Rest Days" like that of Haunama Bay, stoplights and crosswalks.

Flo and Bobby Robinson tried to explain that, "adding more tourist stops to the north shore area was like building another Waikiki. They stated that some had already tried to build hotels or hotel-like buildings. They opined that tourist and related type businesses have already affected Sharks Cove, 3 tables, Waimea Bay. "

They felt like these areas were cloaked as "sanctuaries" but there were impacts on fishing, diving, local family outings and traffic. They felt that Laniakea Beach and Chun's Reef would become such.

Another local resident Steve Cook, with architectural and engineering background, suggested the idea of limiting access to the beach by implementing a marine life protection zone. Then reinstall the barriers with just two openings and a sign indicating parking area. Additionally the Hawaiian tourist authority needs to announce through all media methods and publications that Laniakea is a restricted beach, off limits to all tourist traffic."

Other discussions include access to the beach, asking the city and county to step up, seeking federal assistance, and exploring other alternatives. There were concerns about plans to build a bypass through the Kawailoa Ranch affecting important Hawaiian cultural sites.

The consensus was to see the contents in the State's final study to be completed shortly. Prof. Panos suggested that the public would then have printed information to digest and opine towards long and short-term solutions.

Residents also resolved to carry on their "civil disobedience" activities to highlight Laniakea issues.

ZOEMCDOUGALL REPRESENTS HAWAII AROUND THE WORLD

Sunset Beach local surfer Zoe McDougall won the Junior title in Huntington Beach and then made the United States Team to compete in Japan for the International Surfing Association's World Surfing Games. The ISA is the official recognized organization for the Olympics and this year's event was spectacular. Waves from a Typhoon insured big exciting surf for all. Zoe also won an event in South Africa, the Zig Zag Durban Pro presented by G-force. She is killing it, rated about 24th right now and challenging the list to make the World Tour. Recently in Spain she made a run and ended up 13th in the Juniors and 25th in the QS. At just 18 and a high school A grade graduate she is bound to make her way into the higher ranks. With sponsors like Sanuk, RVCA, Smith Optics, Sticky Bumps, Graham Smith Surfboards, Pyzel, Arakawa and North Shore Surf Shop she is on her way! Find her at @Zoe_Mcdougall on instagram!

RED BULL QUEEN OF THE BAY WAITING, AGAIN

The Women's Waimea Bay Championship is a go for 2018 with the same waiting period as last year Oct. 1 - Nov. 21st, 2018. This year things are looking up for the Wahine big wave surfers with a prize purse of 30 grand and some great things to come! Big wave Women surfers from all over the world will compete for the title of "Queen of the Bay" in honor of the queens before us and the women who worked for ever to try and have a voice and a place in the water. We honor Queen Kaahumanu who sat at the "mens" table where she was not allowed, Patsy Mink who introduced the Women's Educational Equality Act and Title IX, the Equal Opportunity Education Act and the Hawaiian Women who were known to be the best at surfing back in time. Women who redefined the perceived roles of Women. Red Bull is so kind to support the Big Wave Women surfers and has a great team that could compete. Carissa Moore, Maya Gaberia, Justine Dupont and Nicole Pacelli head up the team. All the big names in Women's Big Wave Surfing will be here and tons of local gals that ride the bay every winter. For more <https://www.redbull.com/us-en/events/queen-of-the-bay>

FORECAST NOT LOOKING THE BEST FOR EARLY BIG WAVES

You have probably heard about El Nino this year. The official NOAA forecast is for 60% chance of El Nino forming by December. That is not the best news, that is "iffy," says forecaster Pat Caldwell. Gary Kewley from Surf News Network also says it will be slow in the beginning of October. So far there are none of the typical precursors like typhoons in the west Pacific or storms near Alaska. That means odds for Oct-Nov are just the average odds of any year. Maybe some small swells and one episode of 20 plus and a few 18 foot days. "Ma Nature makes the call," says Caldwell. We are hoping for the best winter ever!

HIKIANALIA IN CALIFORNIA FOR

Hikianalia, Hawaii's sister canoe to the Hokulea made landfall at Half Moon Bay on Sept. 10 after sailing approximately 2,800-miles over 23 days. A 13-person crew demonstrated the important relationship between humanity and the natural environment as they navigated their way by the stars from Hawaii to California using cues from nature, rather than a GPS. The ship is wind and solar-powered and built by the "Okeanos Foundation for the Sea". The name is the Hawaiian name for the star Spica. The crew arrived just in time for the Global Climate Action Summit in September. Nainoa Thompson and Hikianalia captain and navigator Lehua Kamalu delivered a message about the importance of caring for the oceans. The voyagers received a standing ovation from the audience! Picture it! Congratulations to the entire crew! Although California Governor Jerry Brown was unable to attend the ceremony, he presented a proclamation, which was delivered by representatives from his office, recognizing the California Voyage and its mission.

Manu O Ke Kai's Girls Crew Paddles Restored Koa Canoe to a First Place Finish at State Championship

Manu O Ke Kai Canoe Club capped off their 34th regatta season with a proud fourth place in the AAA division at the Hawaiian Canoe Racing Association's (HCRA) 2018 State Championship held at Ke'ehi Lagoon on Aug. 4. Early in the day, the Girls 12 crew set a jubilant tone for the day, racing to a first place finish in the club's recently restored koa canoe, Ka Wahine U'i O Hale'iwa. The Women's Novice B and Men's 55 crews backed up their impressive performance with two bronze medal finishes. During the Na 'Ohana O Na Hui Wa'a Association's regular regatta season, Manu O Ke Kai was undefeated, winning all seven regattas prior to the championships. Kudos also to Moana Quintanilla, who was won a 2018 HCRA scholarship. As an award recipient, Moana received $1,000 and a Kialoa paddle. Imua Manu!

Club members would like to extend a big mahalo to coaches Derf Ibrao, Varina Amantiad, and Glenn Williams, as well as the Manu O Ke Kai Board of Directors, for the countless hours they invest in creating a successful outrigger canoe paddling program. Paddlers are now training intensively for the long distance races, which culminate in the Na Wahine O Ke Kai (Sep. 23) and Molokai Hoe (Oct. 7) races across the Kaiwi Channel. Interested race sponsors can contact Dave Fuga at dave@ktps.net or 808-636-4613.
