2019 Point In Time Count Update

By: Phil Acosta

ALEA Bridge (AB), with the help of over 110 community volunteers, once again took the lead for the 2019 Point-In-Time Count (PITC) for Region 5, canvassing encampments throughout Mililani, Wahiawa, and the North Shore in the morning, afternoon, and evening hours of January 22nd to 25th. The annual count is a vital part of a national process to obtain federal funding for critical housing and homeless services. The organization expected a slightly lower number of unsheltered homeless compared to last year.

Groups of volunteers set out by car and on foot, seeking out homeless individuals and families willing to participate in the survey. Having incentives of water, snacks, hygiene & first aid kits on hand helped to break the ice. Most survey participants openly shared their information, although there were more people this year who chose not to participate than in previous years. HPD Officers were also on standby, in case the volunteers needed assistance. Thankfully, there were no incidents reported.

AB and its volunteers successfully surveyed and verified 251 individuals over 4 days of the Count. When the official Oahu results were released in early May, the report showed 280 unsheltered, homeless individuals in Region 5. We believe the difference is due to surveys conducted outside of the region, as well as the inclusion of the unconfirmed/incomplete surveys. So despite AB connecting nearly 100 people to housing since the last PITC, there was only a 1% decrease from 2018 to 2019. This means we need to increase our efforts to bring more resources to the community and renew our focus to connect the most service-resistant to housing and supportive services. We must commit to making a bigger impact in the homeless population next year.

AB would like to thank its partners in this huge effort: Partners in Care, HPD District 2, Latter-Day Saints Mililani Stake, North Shore News/North Shore Foodbank, Dept. of Veteran Affairs, Hope, Inc., Living Word Ministry, Salvation Army, and Wahiawa Health. Special recognition for our elected officials, Senator Donovan Dela Cruz and Representatives Amy Perruso and Lauren Matsumoto, who provided support throughout the process. And most of all, the awesome volunteers who helped to ensure a comprehensive, accurate, and safe count. This was a tremendous team effort from many individuals and groups from the surrounding communities. Sincere thanks and gratitude for your energy, support and generosity.

We encourage the community to get involved in helping to provide solutions for the homeless issues impacting our community. Give us a call or check us out online (808-379-2532, www.aleabridge.org, www.facebook.com/aleabridge).

Aloha!

Every month the City Council has the opportunity to recognize individuals and organizations that have made positive contributions to our communities. For May I had the amazing opportunity to honor Ko'olauloa Neighborhood Board Chair Dee Dee Letts for her incredible work in the field of mediation. Many of you know Dee Dee through her work with the board and in the community, but she has been an influential figure in mediation for decades. Since the 1980s, Dee Dee has helped individuals and groups resolve a wide array deeply-rooted conflicts. From developer/neighbor disputes to historic preservation controversies to determining the site for the Hawaii Convention Center, Dee Dee has experience with a wide variety of sensitive issues and has helped many groups work together to find resolutions. I am very appreciative to have had the opportunity to recognize Dee Dee and thank her for all the work she does to better her community.

CM Heidi Tsuneyoshi with Dee Dee Letts.

Gil Riviere
Serving Oahu's North and Windward Shores

Windmills and Endangered Species

The "best available science" in 2011 indicated that the Kawaiiloa Wind Project would take no more than 60 endangered opeapea (Hawaiian Hoary Bat) over the 20-year life of the project. Within six years, the official take of opeapea was 69. Similar results are occurring around the state at other wind farms.

"Take" means to harass harm, pursue, hunt, shoot, wound kill, trap, capture, or collect any endangered or threatened species. State and federal laws prohibit take of endangered and threatened species unless certain conditions are met.

An Environmental Impact Statement and Habitat Conservation Plan are required for consideration of an Incidental Take License. Approved ITLs allow a limited number of take, provided the take is incidental to operations, rather than purposeful, and provided an approved plan is implemented to minimize and mitigate the take.

State and federal laws diverge on one key aspect regarding endangered species protections. The feds require a determination that take will not appreciably reduce the likelihood of the survival and recovery of the species. Hawaii law requires that minimization and mitigation measures be implemented to the maximum extent practicable, in order to improve the chances of survival of the species.

How then, is it possible that Kawaiiloa Wind and other wind developers in Hawaii continue operating after exceeding their allowable take? Government agencies allow them to continue to operate because they are in the process of amending their HCPs and ITLs.

Common sense might suggest the wind project should stop nighttime operations, when opeapea are vulnerable, until a new, approved plan is established. Kawaiiloa Wind's claim they cannot afford to shut down at night is dubious because the current owners bought the project for pennies on the dollar through bankruptcy, yet sell electricity at the original, high priced purchase agreement.

Kawaiiloa Wind made news several months ago for its contribution to a land purchase in Helemano. They provided money as mitigation for the level of take they are now realizing in proposed Take Tier 4. The wind farm that projected they would not exceed 60 opeapea through three tiers of mitigation measures, now wants a license to take 265 opeapea in six tiers.

Nobody knows how many opeapea remain on Oahu, yet the wind farms continue to operate with minimal restrictions. Worse, they cannot demonstrate that their mitigation efforts have increased the population by a single bat – not one! The proposed plan basically comes down to a request for a new take license that conveniently matches the existing level of take.

Kawaiiloa Wind's 30 turbines can potentially generate 69 MW of electricity; however, the average production is only 22 percent of capacity. The cost of electricity to rate payers is high, the electric output is disappointing, endangered species may not be adequately protected, and there is a prominent visual impact. All of these factors should be considered as we work towards a better tomorrow.

Public comments on the proposed EIS and HCP are encouraged for the Federal and State agencies by June 10 and June 24, respectively. Please visit SenatorRiviere.com/wind-turbines for additional information, links to the agency sites and a recap of related news articles.

Aloha Friends and Neighbors!

As the Legislative Session and the school-year ends, I want to congratulate all our 2019 graduates for all their hard work and accomplishments. The Mililani High School Class of 2019 had a record of 59 valedictorians this year. Way to go Trojans! Congratulations again on your achievements! I wish you all the best of luck in your future endeavors. Continue to cherish the moments, experiences, and people who helped you reach this point in your lives, and may you have the courage to pursue your passions.

As we head into the interim, I would like to thank you for the honor and privilege of serving as your state house representative. Mahalo to many of you who have attended our town hall meetings, completed our constituent input surveys, called, emailed and used RepMatsumoto.com to share issues and concerns from around the community, and for being involved! We can make our community, our district, and our state better by working together.

At the Hawaii State Capitol, the legislative session has officially come to an end! All bills that were submitted in the beginning 2019 and have passed every committee as well as a final floor vote are now on the Governor's desk waiting to be signed and enacted into law. Mahalo for reaching out to my office to express your support or opposition to active bills and thank you to those who formally submitted testimonies during the legislative process this year. Please continue to contact me during the interim as we prepare and research legislation to introduce next year.

During this past 2019 Legislative Session, I served on three House Committees (Economic Development & Business, Education, Consumer Protection & Commerce, and Labor & Public Employment), where I had the opportunity to hear testimony from the public and evaluate and provide input on important issues. For a complete list of bills that have passed in this legislative session, please visit RepMatsumoto.com or the State Capitol Website www.capitol.hawaii.gov for more information. its current multi-track calendar. This will make it easier for families to plan their daily schedules.

Also, this year, we secured $500,000 for Waialua High & Intermediate School for plans and design for a new STEM Innovation Center! Engaging students in STEM subjects and teaching them various skills allows graduates to succeed in college and in their future careers. For example, Waialua Robotics students display a high level of responsibility by designing their own learning plan objectives, outcomes, and assessments. The STEM Innovation Center will be a powerful tool for positive change in the community that students can use to bring their visions to life. Mahalo to Glenn Lee and the Waialua High & Intermediate School administration for leading the charge in putting us on the map when it comes to technology and innovation.

Additionally, every year when legislature is not in session, I am available to meet with you out in the community. To schedule a meeting with me, please call my office at (808) 586-9490 or send me an email at RepMatsumoto@Capitol.Hawaii.Gov. In a representative government such as ours, it's important for me to hear your thoughts on issues that matter to you in order to do my job effectively.

I'm always eager to hear from you so if you have any questions, concerns, or ideas, please feel free to reach out to me at (808) 586-9490, RepMatsumoto@capitol.hawaii.gov, or RepMatsumoto.com!

Kahuku Medical Center Awards Annual Scholarship

As part of its commitment to the local community, Kahuku Medical Center awarded its annual Hawaii Emergency Physicians Associated (HEPA) scholarship to a deserving Kahuku High School (KHS) student earlier this month.

KHS senior Janae Niutupuivaha was named this year's HEPA scholarship recipient during a May 8 awards assembly at the high school and was awarded a $3,000 scholarship by KMC. Niutupuivaha, who will attend Taft College in California in the fall, plans to major in nursing.

KHS senior Tiler-Mei Adolpho, named runner-up in the HEPA scholarship selection process, was given a new laptop computer by KMC for her college studies. Following graduation, Adolpho plans to attend Brigham Young University-Hawaii this fall and also wants to enter the medical field.

Both KHS students Niutupuivaha and Adolpho graduated last week with the high school's Class of 2019.

Since 1989, the HEPA Education Foundation has been granting scholarships to high school seniors wanting to become productive citizens by furthering their education. Currently, the education foundation grants $3,000 for the first year to full-time college students.

"Kahuku Medical Center is proud to be part of this annual scholarship program in furthering the education of students, particularly those interested in a career in the medical or health care field," said KMC CEO Alan MacPhee. "These students are dedicated in bettering their lives, so in turn, they can better the lives of others in the community."

Congratulations to all of Kahuku High School's graduating Class of 2019!

Hawaiian Electric Companies geared up for hurricane season, urge customers to prepare

The Hawaiian Electric Companies have been working to build more resilient island grids ahead of the 2019 Central Pacific hurricane season, which begins June 1. Forecasts say up to eight tropical cyclones could develop this season, underscoring the need for customers to have emergency plans in place.

Hawaiian Electric, Maui Electric and Hawai'i Electric Light work year-round to strengthen the electric grids so that they are better able to withstand powerful storms. Much of that work centers around upgrading and reinforcing poles, lines and equipment and clearing vegetation.

Here are some examples of the companies' ongoing resilience work: Nearly $17 million was spent in 2018 to clear trees and vegetation from around power lines and equipment, resulting in fewer and briefer outages during storms.

- Hawaiian Electric:
 - Replaced wooden poles with eight steel poles at Wiliwilinui Ridge Trail above Wai'alaie Iki. The new poles support high-voltage lines feeding Windward and East O'ahu.
 - Upgraded infrastructure to improve system reliability in West and Central O'ahu.
 - In efforts to build community resilience, Hawaiian Electric is working with public agencies, volunteers and nonprofits to develop recovery strategies for some of the island's most vulnerable areas.
- Maui Electric:
 - Continued upgrades of utility poles rated to withstand higher wind gusts.
 - Planned pilot installation of insulated power lines to reduce outages caused by falling trees and branches on conductors in forested areas of Upcountry Maui and East Moloka'i.
 - Planned installation of Trip-Savers, a new device on power lines that helps isolate and protect the electrical system during outages, in parts of Upcountry Maui.
- Hawai'i Island:
 - Continued collaboration with public agencies and community partners to promote emergency preparedness and hasten power restoration efforts following natural disasters.
 - Installed Trip-Savers and similar devices on power lines that help isolate and protect the electrical system during outages.
 - Planned installation of tie-lines between circuits that provide quicker restoration options in the event of an interruption.

Customers can refer to the companies' Handbook for Emergency Preparedness to get ready for hurricane season. The handbook and a keiki-friendly booklet featuring Maka the Super Safety Hero are available at <https://www.hawaiianelectric.com/prepare>.
